APACHE SCOUTS WILL TAKE UP THE TRAIL OF VILLA IN MEXICO

Band of Twenty Indians With Their Mountain Ponies, Will Cross the Border Today.

EAGER TO TAKE WAR PATH

Will Discard Their Uniforms when They Get Among Forests and Cliffs of Guerrero.

SIMILAR TRIP 30 YEARS AGO

Their Appearance Suggests Native American of Long Ago.

Columbus, N. M., April 6. — Encamped in little brown tents, 20 Apache Indian scouts are prepared to start tomorrow to General Pershing's headquarters at San Geronimo ranch, to take up the trail of Francisco Villa. With the arrival of their wiry mountain ponies, they will cross the border for the trip through the desert.

Happy Over Prospective Trip.

They slept tonight on the ground and not as they did last night on the floor of a railroad sleeping car, the berths of which were not to their liking. Only the arrival of "Peaches," premier scout and trailer of the Apaches, was needed to complete their happiness in the prospect of taking the warpath again after more than 30 years of civilization, according to their interpreter.

"Peaches" was in the mountains and word did not reach him in time to start with the others from the White mountain Apache reservation in Arizona.

Thirty years ago, four of the 20 made a similar trip into Mexico to assist another cavalry command in the capture in the Sierra Madres of another outlaw—Geronimo, war chief of the Apaches. It was "Peaches," together with Sharley, another of the scouts, who, after Geronimo had made his escape from the soldiers at Mescalero, N. M., and again took up the warpath, went into the old medicine man's camp near Phoenix, Arizona and captured him.

Suggest the Typical Indian.

As the scouts, clad in the khaki of the cavalry, prepared for their departure tonight, only the Eagle feathers, the Apache insignia of war, stuck into the tightly woven braids of long black hair which hung over the shoulders of their army blouses, suggested the primative native of America. The feathers had been carefully preserved in the tepees of the tribe since it was last on the warpath, it was said. Tucked away in each man's shirt was a small package of buckskin, containing a pair of moccasins. Eskanhdesta, better known as "Cricken," the ranking officer of the band, explained that once on the trail of Villa among forests and cliffs of Guerrero, the scouts will discard their uniforms and continue the search as did their forefathers, before the civilization of the white man enveloped them.

The Indians are enlisted in the Apache scouts, an organization similar to the Philippine scouts, under the control of the bureau of Indian affairs.

Among them were several graduates of Haskell Indian institute at Lawrence, Kan., including Charlie Shipp, police judge of the reservation.

THREE AMERICANS AND ONE SPANIARD KILLED BY BANDITS

Tucson, Ariz., April 6. — Three United States citizens and one Spaniard were killed yesterday by Mexican bandits, nine miles south of Rasario, Sinaloa, Mexico, according to advices received here today from Mazatlan, at the offices of the Southern Pacific railroad company.

The Americans killed were F. C. Burke, former railroad agent at Morrado; Roderick Davidson, and a former conductor named Wallace, according to the railroad report. The Spaniard was a former conductor named Rodrigo.

EVIDENTLY BELIVES VILLA HAS MADE HIS ESCAPE SOUTH

San Antonio, Texas, April 6.—A report from Colonel Brown of the Tenth cavalry received at Fort Sam Houston tonight indicated he believed Villa had fled from the district about Guerrero and was making his way south. He sent his report from Cusihuirachic west of Chihuahua two days ago and said that he was pursuing what he characterized as a "hot trail" of the fugitive chief.

Colonel Brown referred to a skirmish he had April 5 with 50 of Villa's men in which three Mexicans were killed.

ASSOCIATION OF SOUTHERN CHURCH COLLEGES ORGANIZED

Will Take Up Active Work of Fighting Lynching in the South.

Birmingham, Ala., April 6.—Eighteen colleges were represented at the organization here tonight of the Association of Southern Church Colleges which will take up actively the work of fighting lynching in the South.

Officers are Dr. C. M. Bailey, Georgetown, Texas, president; Dr. B. F. Riley, Birmingham, Ala., secretary; Dr. J. R. Robyns, Clarksville, Tenn., treasurer. These with Bishop A. W. Knight, of Sewanee, and Dr. J. M. Shelburn, of Birmingham, constitute the executive committee.

Speakers said tonight approximately 4,000 lynchings have been committed in the United States since 1885 and practically 90 per cent. of these were in the South.

DENY TROOPS ARE TO BE WITHDRAWN

Lansing and Baker Indicate That the Orders Given Funston Will Not be Changed.

TRAIN LOAD OF SUPPLIES

Sent to the Front From Juarez by Private Firms—Diaz Located in Mexico—No News of Activities From Pershing.

Washington, April 6.—Categorical denial by Secretary Lansing late today was the official answer to persistent reports that the American troops might be withdrawn from Mexico shortly regardless of developments in the hunt for Villa. Both Mr. Lansing and Secretary Baker, of the War Department indicated that there was no present intention of changing the original orders given General Funston.

Official comment was refused regarding statements credited to Consul Garcia of the defacto government at El Paso that the punitive expedition had accomplished its ends in dispersing the outlaws and that he would be glad to see it withdrawn. The matter was given scant consideration by high officials, who apparently deemed it an unauthorized expression by the consul.

Train Load of Supplies.

News from the border that a train load of supplies shipped by private firms, had left Juarez today for Casas Grandes and Pearson, where they will be available to General Pershing, caused satisfaction here. Although the army authorities were not the actual shippers, it was believed the practical result would be the same. Even without further concessions from Carranza, such use of the railways, some officials think, may meet the needs of the United States.

Secretary Baker indicated today in the present status of the Mexican campaign the motor truck lines from Columbus are to be the principal artery for supplies with whatever supplementary use may be gained from the railways. State Department dispatches during the day from Special Agent Rodgers at Queretaro told of continuous negotiations with Carranza on the railway question, though the messages were somewhat vague and indefinite.

Interest in political questions affecting the Mexican situation was renewed by receipt at the State Department of correspondence between Horst von der Goltz, alleged German spy and aid of Captain von Papen, the former German military attache. It was understood some of the correspondence, submitted by the British government, dealt with activities of Von Der Goltz in Mexico.

$114,500,000 LOAN PROPOSED

For the Purpose of Municipal Improvements at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, April 6.—A proposition to borrow $114,500,000 to be used for municipal improvements was presented to city council today by the finance committee and will be voted on at a special meeting next Tuesday. The proposed loan will go to the people for authorization May 16.

RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL IS NOT CHANGED

Norfolk-Beaufort and Charleston Projects Retained.

Extended Debate Takes Place in the House and Passage of the Measure Was Not in Sight When the Body Adjourned.

Washington, April 6.—The sections providing for the appropriation of $1,000,000 to improve the Norfolk-Beaufort inland waterway project, and $80,000 for improvements in Charleston harbor were retained in the Rivers and Harbors bill in the House today after extended debate. Of the Charleston appropriation $70,000 would be used for improving the channel to the sea and $10,000 expended on Ashley river.

Representative Frear, of Wisconsin, fought the measure throughout the session and its passage was not in sight when the House adjourned.

Aside from the Norfolk-Beaufort and Charleston provisions today's discussion was almost wholly on Southern items of minor importance extending as far as Mississippi and Alabama, and all were retained in the bill as reported. Representative Good, of Iowa, succeeded in securing the adoption of a provision on some of the appropriations, including the Norfolk-Beaufort project, that no part of the funds shall be paid for work under any private contract if the private contract price is 25 per cent in excess of the estimated cost of having the work done by the government.

ANOTHER INQUIRY ABOUT OUTRAGE OF GERMANY

American Embassy Requests Information Regarding Sinking of Steamer Eagle Point.

NO CHANGE IN THEIR POLICY

Dr. Zimmerman Says the Old Order to Warn Unarmed and Unresisting Passenger Steamers is Still in Force.

Berlin, April 3, via London, April 6. (delayed)—A fourth American inquiry was added to others today awaiting reply at the foreign office when the American embassy requested information regarding the steamer Eagle Point recently sunk off Queenstown and asked whether she was destroyed by a German submarine.

The foreign office states that as yet it has no information from the admiralty regarding the Sussex, the Englishman, the Manchester Engineer or the Eagle Point.

The admiralty has countered the question regarding the Sussex with a request for exact details on the time, place and circumstances of the Sussex disaster. No supposition or possible explanations covering the case of the Sussex have been advanced in authoritative circles, either at the foreign office or at the admiralty. Only one supposition is heard in unofficial circles to account for the incident in case it should develop that a German submarine is concerned is that the Sussex in build resembled a transport or a cruiser. Another possible explanation frequently heard is that the sinking of the Sussex occurred in the region not only theoretically but actually within the zone of regular war operations and on a route used largely for the conveyance of troops.

Dr. Alfred F. M. Zimmerman, undersecretary for foreign affairs, informed the Associated Press today that any doubts regarding a possible change of policy relating to the treatment of passenger steamers was unjustified. The old order to submarine commanders against the destruction of unarmed and unresisting passenger steamers without warning and providing an opportunity for safety to those on board was still in force, Dr. Zimmerman said, and added that in case of error or violation of orders Germany would not hesitate to accept the consequences and make all suitable amends. Dr. Zimmermann also declared that the same policy and orders were still in effect regarding neutral steamers, the attitude of the German naval forces towards these vessels being that they are governed by the established regulations of the so-called cruiser warfare. According to these regulations, Dr. Zimmerman explained, neutral vessels were subject to destruction only when it was found after an examination that more than half of the cargo consisted of war contraband.

Dr. Zimmerman expressed the opinion that the greater part of the cases of sinking of neutral vessels, which are being reported with increasing regularity in news dispatches would be found to be due to mines, which he said were admittedly used by all parties as recognized weapons of war.

PROTEST TO A PROBE OF PACKING INDUSTRY

Five Cattle-Raisers Appear Before House Sub-Committee.

Say Investigation Would Not Only Prove There is No Packers' Trust, but That it Would Tend to Disturb Business.

Washington, April 6. — Five cattle raisers who said they were prosperous and contented, protested to the House Judiciary sub-committee today against the Borland resolution for investigation of the packing industry which has been earnestly urged by many Western live stock organizations and industrial raisers and feeders.

The witnesses insisted that an investigation not only would fail to prove the existence of a packers' combine, but would tend to disturb business. Losers in the industry under present conditions they maintained were men who did not understand it or failed to use good judgment.

The committee closed its hearings temporarily tonight, without acting on the resolution or bringing about an agreement between the packers and those who seek an inquiry as to the form an investigation should take.

J. C. Clay, of Indiana, told the committee that Congress was not qualified to investigate the beef business, and attributed raisers' troubles chiefly to their own weakness for profit-taking, from which he did not exempt himself.

"You're a friend of the packers, aren't you?" asked Judge Wallace, of Kansas City, one of the attorneys for the producers.

"Well, I used to know old man Swift," Mr. Clay responded, "but you know where business begins friendship ceases."

Walter L. Fisher, once Secretary of the Interior, and now attorney for the producers, asked the witness if he had read a report from the Purdue University experiment station on cattle raising that was contrary to Mr. Clay's testimony.

"Oh, I read the reports of experiment stations," he said, "but they usually lose money; so I don't go by them."

VOLUNTEER PLAN RETAINED IN THE SENATE ARMY BILL

Lee Amendment to Strike Out the Provision is Defeated by a Vote of 36 to 34.

HOUSE MAY KILL SCHEME

Provision is Fought by Advocates of Militia as First Line Defense Next to Army.

Washington, April 6.—The Senate retained the volunteer army provision in the army bill late today by a vote of 36 to 34, rejecting Senator Lee's amendment to strike the section from the bill. The vote ended a four-day debate on the section.

Advocates of the National Guard as the first line of defense behind the regular army supported the amendment vigorously, and the struggle was one of the hardest fought in the Senate at this session of Congress. It began after the defeat of the Military committee last week, when a proposal to create a National Guard section of the army general staff, was written into the bill.

The narrow margin by which the Federal volunteer provision was retained makes it doubtful that it will be in the measure finally framed by the conference committee between the two houses. An effort during debate on the House army bill, to insert this section, which is designed to provide such a force as the continental army proposed by former Secretary Garrison, was decisively defeated.

Retained by Narrow Margin.

Without Republican support the volunteer section would have been voted out by the Democratic senators despite the fact that it was unanimously recommended by the Military committee. Twenty-four Democrats and ten Republicans, including nearly all the Progressive Republicans, voted to strike it out. Nineteen Democrats and 17 Republicans voted to retain it. The vote follows:

Voting to eliminate the section:

Democrats — Ashurst, Bankhead, Clarke (Arkansas), Culberson, Gorde, Hardwick, Hughes, Kern, Lee (Maryland), Lewis, Martin, Overman, Ransdell, Reed, Robinson, Shafroth, Simmons, Smith (South Carolina), Smith (Georgia), Stone, Swanson, Taggart, Thompson and Vardaman—24.

Republicans—Clapp, Cummins, Curtis, Jones, Kenyon, McCumber, Norris, Page, Sherman and Works—10. Total 34.

Voting to retain the section:

Democrats — Beckham, Broussard, Chamberlain, Hitchcock, Hollis, Husting, Johnson (Maine), Johnson (South Dakota), Lane, Newlands, O'Gorman, Pittman, Pomerene, Saulsbury, Sheppard, Smith (Maryland), Thomas, Walsh and Williams—19.

Republicans—Borah, Brandegee, Catron, Clark (Wyoming), Dillingham, Dupont, Gallinger, Lippitt, Lodge, Nelson, Oliver, Poindexter, Smoot, Sterling, Sutherland, Warren and Weeks—17. Total 36.

Charges of Lobbying.

The vote followed charges that the National Guard organizations throughout the country were conducting a lobby against the Federal volunteer plan. Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Military committee, warned the Senate in the course of the debate that if the National Guard proposed to become politically active and endeavor to influence legislation as it had done in this case, he would in future oppose any further Federal aid for the state soldiers. Champions of the guard retorted that the military training camps association had been equally active in behalf of the Federal volunteer section and pointed to the mass of telegrams laid before the Senate today by Senator Chamberlain to sustain their contention.

The struggle had little bearing upon the general question of preparedness beyond the fact that advocates of the volunteer plan asserted it was vital to any scheme to back up the regular army with certain soldiers, while opponents declared it would serve only to disintegrate the National Guard. All senators who spoke on the subject declared in favor of preparedness, and many urged even more liberal provisions for the regular army and National Guard than the bill makes. Others urged that the volunteer section be made stronger.

Race Question Debated.

Senator Vardaman and Senator Gallinger debated the race question, the Mississippi Senator declaring that under the provision of the volunteer section of the bill negro armies would be a distinct menace to the South. Senator Gallinger declared Senator Vardaman wanted to keep the negro in a menial position. He said the negro made a good soldier in the Civil and Spanish-American wars and the time might come when he would be needed to defend the country.

The section under dispute provides for the organization by congressional districts of 261,000 Federal volunteers wholly in the control of the President and for their training in peace times under such regulations as the President may prescribe. It was designated to provide for summer training camps, similar to those held last year at Plattsburg, N. Y., and elsewhere, and also for the organization of volunteer units in country districts where its members could spare time during the summer for a month or more or intensive military training during each of the three years of their service with the colors.

REPORTS OF NAVAL ATTACHES STUDIED

They Indicate the Channel Steamer Sussex Was Torpedoed by a German Submarine.

NEUTRAL SHIPS ATTACKED

Generally Conceded That United States is Confronted by Situation More Grave Than Any Since Outbreak of the War.

Washington, April 6.—Reports of American naval attaches saying metal fragments found o nthe channel steamer Sussex bore distinctive markings showing them to be parts of a German torpedo, and dispatches telling of scores of submarine attacks on neutral and other unarmed merchant ships within the last two weeks, were studied at conference today between President Wilson, Colonel House and members of the cabinet.

The attaches' reports are regarded here as virtually conclusive proof that the Sussex, while carrying 25 American citizens was attacked in violation of solemn and reiterated assurances given the United States by Germany. With this fact apparently established, it is generally conceded that the United States is confronted by a situation more grave than any which has arisen since the outbreak of the war.

First Hear From Germany.

It was said authoritatively again tonight, however, that no definite step will be taken until Germany has replied to informal inquiries submitted by Ambassador Gerard in the cases of the Sussex, Englishman, Manchester Engineer and Eagle Point. It was declared that word from Berlin was being awaited not so much because information as to what happened is wanted, but to give Germany an opportunity to present her version and to say what will be done about it.

In view of the evidence collected, it is confidently believed in many quarters that Germany will admit the attacks on the Sussex, and unofficial dispatches from Berlin have indicated that such an administration undoubtedly will be accompanied by disavowal and offer of reparation.

Acceptance of such a response by the United States would depend upon the punishment meted out to the submarine commander responsible for the offense.

The Only Legal Weakness.

In the event of a denial of responsibility by Germany, the American government would have to determine whether it should act on the basis of evidence from other sources. The only legal weakness in the case of the Sussex, it is said, is the fact that the American naval attaches did not actually see the metal furnishings taken from the Sussex and the fact that no American citizen has sworn to having seen the wake of a torpedo before the Sussex was struck. Such affidavits have been received from citizens of other nations.

GERMANS LAUNCH AN ATTACK AGAINST THE BRITISH AT ST. ELOI

Are Making Effort to Regain Six Hundred Yards of Trenches Lost Ten Days Ago.

HAUCOURT VILLAGE TAKEN

Germans Consider It Important Strategic Point — French Also Score Some Gains.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SUNK

Spain Takes Up Question of Attacks on Spanish Ships.

Not only have the Germans been engaged in heavy fighting with the French around Verdun, but they have launched a strong attack against the new British positions near St. Eloi, which lies a few miles south of Ypres, in an endeavor to regain 600 yards of trench, which the British won from them ten days ago. The fighting around St. Eloi proceeded throughout the day and had not terminated when the latest British official statement was issued.

Germans Capture Haucourt.

There have been gains on both German and French sides. The Germans captured the village of Haucourt, which lies in the Avocourt-Bethincourt sector to the northwest of Verdun. This is considered by the Germans as an important strategic point, for, while the French held it, the Germans could not cross the Freges brook.

Of this operation the French war office says a series of attacks in which large numbers of men took part followed a bombardment of extreme violence. These attacks were checked by the French fire but one more furious than the others launched at the center against the village of Haucourt, resulted in Germans gaining a foothold, "in spite of repeated checks and bloody sacrifices."

The French claim that this village is dominated by the French guns.

French Win Successes.

On their side the French forces carried a large section of the position north of Avocourt known as the Bois Carre, and in severe hand-to-hand fighting south of Fort Douaumont drove the Germans back through their underground passages for a distance of 200 metres along a front of 500 metres. It succeeded also by the curtain of fire in preventing an assault in the Cote Du Poivre to the east of the Meuse where the Germans had subjected to a long and intense bombardment.

The French war office officially announces that during the month of March a total of 35 German aeroplanes were destroyed and that the French aerial losses amounted to only 13 aeroplanes. This is doubtless in reply to the German statement recently issued to the effect that in March the British and French lost 44 aeroplanes while the Germans lost only 14.

British Capture Felahie.

Another town in Mesopotamia, Felahie, has been captured by the British, which brings the relieving forces so much nearer to Kut El Amara, where General Townshend and his command have been beleaguered for many months. The capture of Felahie was preceded by a succession of assaults on the entrenched position of the Turks at Um El Henna, the Turks being driven out of five lines of trenches.

A Spanish cabinet council has been called to consider the question of the torpedoing of Spanish vessels.

A German submarine has been sunk by a squadron of French and British warships, the crew being captured. The British steamers Zent and Vesuvio also have been sent to the bottom. Forty-eight members of the crew of the Zent are missing. Three of the survivors of the Vesuvio were injured.

FORTIFICATION BILL BEFORE THE HOUSE

First of Four Annual Measures Approximating $100,000,000 Favorably Reported.

$34,299,050 FOR FIRST YEAR

Provides for Increasing and Modernizing Coast Defenses and to Supply Ample Store of Reserve Ammunition.

Washington, April 6—The third great element of the National preparedness programme was today brought into the House. It is the largest fortification bill ever reported, and the first of four annual measures under which it is proposed to spend approximately $100,000,000 for increasing and modernizing the coast defenses, already officially declared to be superior to any in the world, and to supply an ample store of reserve ammunition for the guns.

Included in the bill are provisions for mounting 16-inch direct fire rifles to guard New York, Boston, San Francisco and other great cities from long range naval bombardment. Provision is also made for mounting 12-inch rifles now in reserve so they will have a range of more than 30,000 yards, or 15 sea miles. No ship could live within that distance of the guns.

The plan will add 16-inch mortar batteries to the present 12-inch emplacements because of the increased armor protection of modern battleships. In addition it provides for 16-inch mobile howitzers and 14-inch guns on railroad cars to defend points not protected by established forts.

Proposals Not Altered.

In approving the bill the committee accepted almost without alteration the proposals of the War Department and the officers who have studied the subject of coast defenses for years.

The bill carries appropriations of $23,305,123, and additional authorizations to reach a total of $34,299,050. It is the first of the bills mapped out by former Secretary Garrison to cover a four-year programme of expenditure totalling $82,064,557 on the continental coast defenses and reserve material. The Panama Canal defenses will add $13,995,000 to the project reaching a grand total of $96,059,557.

The committee cut down the 1917 estimates $1,378,073. As the bill stands however, it represents an increased expenditure over last year of $16,936,833.

Outlining the projects approved, the report says:

"While it may not be proper to state in detail the proposals made, it is proper to state that the ends sought by the additional armament are at certain points to defend the harbors and existing defenses against long range naval bombardment, made necessary by the increased range of guns of modern battleships; to increase the volume of gunfire at certain places in order to make it adequate to meet the increased volume of gunfire that could be directed against the fortifications by a fleet of modern warships; and in a few instances to cover water areas not covered effectively by existing arma-

WORK TO BE STARTED BEFORE FIRST OF MAY

Custom House Contract to be Let Within Ten Days.

Bids for Building in Wilmington Opened Yesterday, That of Northeastern Construction Co., $368,400, Being Lowest Submitted.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., April 6.—The Northeastern Construction Company's bid of $368,400 was the lowest estimate submitted to the Treasury Department today for the construction of the Wilmington Customs House. The bid of S. W. Rittenhouse, of Mobile, Ala., of $35,491, was the lowest bid submitted for mechanical equipment.

Col. Walker Taylor, collector of the Wilmington port, and Representative Godwin were at the Treasury Department when the bids were opened. Both of these gentlemen are greatly interested in the construction of the building, and but for their efforts the work would not have been started for at least two years.

The Treasury officals promised them today, however, that the awards will be made within ten days, and that actual work on the building should be started before the first of May. The building will be one of the finest designs ever put up by the government, according to Supervising Architect Whetmore.

Mr. Whetmore promised Messrs. Godwin and Taylor that everything would be done to hurry the work and that he would personally see to it that there was no unnecessary delay at any point.

P. R. A.

SAYS STATE JUDGES MUCH TO BLAME FOR LYNCHINGS.

Points Out That There is No Record of Lynching Federal Prisoners.

Augusta, Ga., April 6.—Judge Emory Speer, in charge of the Federal grand jury at the opening of the regular term of court here today, made an appeal for national preparedness and denounced lynchings. He laid much of the blame for lynchings upon state judges and pointed out that there is no record of lynchings of prisoners of Federal courts. He declared that if "the lynchers only knew to a certainty that they would suffer even a fine of $50 apiece there would be no lynchings."

Judge Speer, who is presiding judge of the Federal district court of the southern district of Georgia, declared in the course of his charge that if a prisoner under his jurisdiction were put to death or otherwise deprived of his rights without due process of law, he would "fill the Atlanta Federal penitentiary" if necessary to stop such illegal acts.

Norfolk, Va., April 6.—George Carter, who last night shot and killed C. E. Davis, ordinary seaman from the battleship New Hampshire, and Charles Strenson, a marine from the Norfolk naval hospital, was captured tonight in the home of a negro woman employed in a restaurant where Carter was formerly employed. Carter says he shot at Davis and Strenson because he thought they intended beating his brother to death.

WANTS TO "COME BACK" AT DANIELS

Fiske Asks That He be Permitted to Reappear Before the House Naval Committee.

HIS REQUEST NOT GRANTED

Denies Telling the Secretary That Admiral Fletcher Did Not Want Command of Atlantic Fleet, Saying He Endorsed Him.

Washington, April 6.—Rear Admiral Fiske wrote to the House Naval committee today asking that he be permitted to re-appear before the committee to contradict statements made by Secretary Daniels at the navy bill hearing concerning the admiral's conduct before he resigned as aide for operations. Chairman Padgett replied that since the hearings had closed and no "public interest could be subserved," by an inquiry into the differences between the Secretary and the admiral, he saw no reason why the matter should again be taken up.

Regarding Secretary Daniels' statement that Admiral Fiske had told him that barring wine from the ships would lead to the use of cocaine, the admiral wrote that he had submitted a long memorandum to the Secretary opposing abolition of the wine mess, which should be examined in its entirety to be properly understood. He denied that he ever told Mr. Daniels, as the latter testified, that Rear Admiral Fletcher did not want the command of the Atlantic fleet. Instead, he said, he reported correctly a conversation with Admiral Fletcher some months before the vacancy occurred in which Fletcher said he thought Fiske would be the logical appointee to succeed Rear Admiral Badger in command.

"I have never had the slightest ill feeling about this episode," wrote Admiral Fiske, "and I have told every one to whom I have talked about it that if I had been in the Secretary's place I would have appointed Fletcher."

In his reply Chairman Padgett said the committee gladly would incorporate in the record a copy of the wine mess memorandum if the admiral would send it in.

Representative Britten, a Republican member of the committee, at whose instance Admiral Fiske was called to testify, said tonight he would demand that the admiral's request be submitted to a vote of the committee.

BRITISH CAPTURE THE TURK TOWN OF FELAHIE

Turkish Forces Driven Out of Five Lines of Trenches.

Brilliant Work by the Tigris Corps of British Soldiers Under Command of General George F. Gorringe is Reported.

London, April 6.—The town of Felahie, in Mesopotamia, has been captured by the British, it was announced officially today. All the positions gained have been consolidated and counter-attacks by the Turks repulsed. The statement says:

"General Lake reports that the Tigris corps, under the command of Lieut. Gen. Sir George F. Gorringe, who succeeded General Aylmer, attacked the enemy's entrenched position at Umm El Henna on April 5. Our trenches had been pushed forward by means of saps to within 100 yards of the enemy's position, and the leading battalions of the 13th division then rushed the enemy's first and second lines in quick succession.

"The third line was captured by 6 A. M., under the support of concentrated artillery and machine gun fire. The 14th division continued their victorious advance and by 7 A. M. had driven the enemy out of his fourth and fifth lines.

"Aeroplane reconnaissances then reported that the enemy was strongly reinforcing his entrenchments at Felahie and Sannayyat, positions respectively 6,000 and 12,000 yards from the front trenches at Umm El Henna. As those positions could only be approached over very open ground, General Gorringe ordered a further attack deferred until evening.

"In the meantime, on the right bank, the third division under General Keary, captured the enemy's trenches opposite the Felahie position. During the afternoon the enemy on this bank made a strong counter attack with infantry and cavalry supported by guns. This counter attack was successfully repulsed and the position won was consolidated.

"About 5 P. M. General Gorringe continued his forward movement on the left bank and carried the Felahie position."

SLEEPING OUTDOORS

Advice From an Expert in Regard to Blankets and Fires.

(From Outing.)

Two of the lightweight army blankets are warmer than a single six-pound blanket. On a cold night the camper sleeps in fresh underwear and socks, trousers, sweater, mackinaw, German socks and moccasins. (It is no hardship then to get up and replenish the fire). With the half-ax a regular backlog fire can be built and plenty of night wood laid in. Don't use wood that snaps and shoots out embers. If a snowfall is anticipated, cover the tent frame with evergreen boughs and thatch with browse (evergreen twigs). This will also effectively screen the tent from sparks. Then build the fire as close to the tent as safety permits. If you know how to manage one, it may be within four feet.

WAS NORTH CAROLINA'S FIRST AUTOMOBILE MOB

No Tendency in Kinston to Condone Lynching of Black

Estimated at Least 300 Men Took Part in Trip from Greene County and Back—Joe Taylor Prognosticates.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., April 6.—Kinston today has recovered from the shock of Wednesday's sensation occasioned by the invasion of the city in the early hours by a Greene county mob who took Joe Black from the Lenoir county jail, drove back with him and shot him to death in the Maury section. Sentiment generally Wednesday was divided.

A large element of the population declared the act justified, because of the statements by Black that the little victim of an assault by his son, held in the penitentiary for safe-keeping, was no better than his own flesh, and that he would kill the girl's father if he prosecuted the assailant, as well as his past bad character and his action in arming Will Black to fight the posse who took him after the outrage. There is no such tendency to condone the lynching today, however. Kinston is beginning to feel inclined to regard its dignity as assailed and wonder how it was that a mob of countrymen could ever come here and accomplish such a feat.

They were "different" countrymen, however—men of highest intelligence, deliberate, cool-headed and determined. It would have taken a battalion of militia to save Joe Black Wednesday. The men who comprised the "mob" had been considering Joe Black's case for days. He could not be legally put to death. The Greene county men executed him illegally. The lynchers, who numbered fully 300 men by the least estimate, comprised the first automobile mob in North Carolina's history, probably. There were scores of machines in the "death procession" back to Greene county. It was also probably the quietest lynching to ever occur where such a large party were concerned. If a lynching could be called "orderly" this one could be so classified.

Rev. J. L. Everton, of Clinton, N. C., is assisting Rev. W. O. Bodell, pastor of the Church of the Eternal Hope, Universalist, in a series of Lenten services. Mr. Everton is doing the preaching. He discussed "The Glory of the Second Death," last night, the subject and sermon both being out of the ordinary.

People Believe in Wilson.

Wilson "has the confidence of the people as no man in office has ever had before him," according to Joe Tayloe, chief clerk to the Senate finance committee, who is visiting in this part of the State. "I do not believe the Republicans will make a very strong fight against him, because I hardly think they will be willing to shoulder the responsibilities with which the present administration is confronted. I am confident that the people do not want a change. They believe in the old saying of Zeb Vance—'Never change horses in the middle of a stream.' I believe that Roosevelt will jump in and just about stampede the Republican convention. But if Roosevelt is nominated, Wilson will easily sweep the country," Mr. Tayloe says. "If Roosevelt were the Republican candidate nearly every German-American would vote the Democratic ticket, too." Mr. Tayloe is a native of Beaufort county and a brother to several noted surgeons of this section, Drs. D. T., Joshua and A. K. Tayloe.

INTERNED IN VERDUN

Napoleon's Captives Enjoyed Themselves in French City.

(From the London Chronicle.)

It was in the little city of Verdun, it may be recalled, that Napoleon, in 1803, interned the greater portion of the English tourists in France, who were suddenly arrested, on May 23 of that year, on the rupture of the Treaty of Amiens, as a reyrisal for the seizure of the British government of all the French ships in our ports.

For 12 years—from 1803 until the Allies entered Paris in 1814—some thousands of British tourists lived in compulsory exile in France. Many of them were people of wealth and title who had taken their wives and children, their horses, carriages and servants with them to France and were following the "Grand Tour" when they were surprised by the resumption of the war.

Verdun became, temporarily, an English town. English shops sprang up in every street. The exiles established their own clubs(including a jockey club, and regular race meetings, and a pack of harriers were organized. There was also an English church, and one of the sights of Verdun for the French in those days was to watch the exiles leaving church after Sunday morning services.

PREACHER TELLS WIFE'S BENEFITS THROUGH TANLAC

Recommended to Her by Another Pastor, Whose Wife Was Helped by It.

The Rev. B. P. Robinson, pastor of a leading church at Cary, near Raleigh, is among the recent professional men to offer an endorsement of Tanlac.

"While in the capital city, my wife asked that I visit the Tanlac Man and thank him for the good results worked for her by your medicine," said the Rev. Robinson to the Tanlac representative in Raleigh.

"I surely appreciate your kindness and the gratefulness of your wife," smiled the Tanlac Man.

"From the Rev. T. A. Sikes, of Clayton, whose wife has been helped by it," responded the Cary clergyman when asked how Mrs. Robinson learned of Tanlac.

"It is remarkable to think that from but two bottles of Tanlac Mrs. Robinson has, besides gaining sixteen pounds in weight, won back her strength, good sleep and hearty appetite that had been sapped by stomach ills and nervousness," he added.

"Mrs. Robinson feels as if new life has come to her. I join her in heartily recommending this great reconstructive tonic with the hope and assured feeling that it will benefit women who suffer as my wife did, if they will but give Tanlac a trial," concluded the Rev. Robinson, as he bade a welcome good-bye to the Tanlac Man and disappeared with his package of three bottles of Tanlac.

Tanlac is a vegetable compound, free from mineral taint and builds strength through the blood and nerves. It is an ideal spring tonic, blood purifier, appetizer and invigorant.

GERMAN UNDER-GROUND WORKS ARE CAPTURED

French Score Some Gains Southwest of Fort Douaumont.

Violent Bombardment of Cote Du Poivre is Without Results—French Destroy 35 German Aeroplanes During March.

Paris, April 6.—French troops, in hand to hand fighting, southwest of Fort Douaumont today, carried German underground passages and works along a front of 500 metres to a depth of about 200 metres. A violent bombardment was directed by the Germans to the east of the Meuse against Cote Du Poivre, but the French curtain of fire prevented an infantry attack, according to the official statement issued by the war office tonight. The text reads:

"In the Argonne we exploded a mine in the region of Vauquois.

"To the west of the Meuse the Germans continued to bombard persistently the Bethacourt salient and village of Eanes and Montzeville.

"To the east of the Meuse Cote Du Poivre was subjected during the court of the day to a violent bombardment which foreboded an attack but our curtain of fire prevented the enemy from setting out from his trenches.

To the southwest of Fort Douaumont, a series of small engagements of a hand-to-hand nature enabled our troops to progress in the underground passages and works of the enemy on a front of 500 metres to a depth of more than 200 metres.

"A counter attack delivered by the enemy at the end of the day completely failed.

"In the Woevre our batteries concentrated their fire on various points of the enemy's front.

"In Lorraine, our artillery displayed activity to the east of Luneville between the Vexouse river and the Vosges.

"There is no other important event to report on the rest of the front except the usual cannonading.

"During the month of March our aviators displayed much activity along the whole front, particularly in the region of Verdun. In the course of numerous aerial combats, 31 German aeroplanes were brought down by our pilots, nine of which fell in flames or were crushed on the ground within our lines, and 22 fell inside the German lines."

"The great disproportion between the falls effected within the French zone and those within the enemy zone, with reference to French and German aeroplanes, is significant. According to a document found on a prisoner, German pilots received the order to cross their own lines as little as possible. The results of the month of March prove, on the other hand, that our pursuit aeroplanes have flown incessantly over the territory of the adversary seeking combat."

The Rochester Herald is responsible for the statement that when the American soldiers reached Casas Grandes the Mexican women fell upon their necks and kissed them. We have always been opposed to intervention in Mexico till now.

TO PENSION MOTHERS OF ORPHAN CHILDREN

Provision Favored by N. C. Orphan Association.

Committee Appointed at Annual Meeting in Raleigh to Investigate Advisability of such a movement.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 6.—The North Carolina Orphan Association this afternoon adopted resolutions providing that a special committee be appointed for investigation as to the operation of the "Mothers' Pension" system as operated in a number of states and the advisability of urging the North Carolina Legislature to adopt such a system. The committee appointed to investigate consists of Archibald Johnson, J. R. Young and M. L. Shipman.

In favoring such a pension fund, Rev. Z. Paris sai dthat there are now applications for the admission of more than one thousand orphans on file with the various orphanages of the State and for whom there is no room.

Resolutions also called on the Legislature to provide some legislation that will protect the orphanage work of the State from irresponsible persons working in the interest of so-called orphanage and child welfare work to the hurt of the really worthy efforts for the orphans, provide more adequate and effective punishment for abandonment of chilren by parents; raise the age limit of school attendance and continue the campaign for the "One Day's Income" for the orphanage of one's choice as conducted so successfully last Thanksgiving day.

The association re-elected the old officers and added Rev. A. S. Barnes, Raleigh; W. F. Evans, Greenville; H. E. McPherson, Elon College, to the executive committee.

The report of the publicity committee, through Hon. E. L. Shipman, showed that about $25,000 increase in the contributions to the orphanages of the State is directly attributable to the "One Day's Income" campaign for donations that was made for last Thanksgiving Day. He presented letters from the officers of nearly all the orphanages giving the benefit each received from this campaign and commending the movement highly.

Those in attendance on the meeting of the association today included Archibald Johnson, Thomasville Baptist Orphanage; J. W. Bell, Roman Catholic Orphanage, Nazareth; W. E. Marley, Christian Orphanage, Elon College; L. H. Putnam, North Carolina Children's Home Society; Miss Hudson, Presbyterian Orphanage, Barium Springs; R. A. Garrett, Methodist Protestant Orphan Home, High Point; R. L. Brown, Oxford Orphan Asylum; A. S. Barnes, North Carolina Methodist Orphanage, Raleigh; Walter Thompson, Children's Home, Winston-Salem; J. W. Smith, Thompson Orphanage, Charlotte; L. B. Compton, Elrado Orphanage, Asheville.

Robeson Man Pardoned.

Governor Craig granted a pardon today for John Pope, a Robeson county man under six months' sentence to the roads for intoxication and resisting arrest, the pardon being asked by Judge Britt, of the recorder's court, and many others, Judge Britt telling the Governor that the sentence was not imposed with the expectation that he would work on the roads, but that it would banish him from the county for a season and break him from had companions.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, NEW Hanover County. In the Superior Court.

Florence H. Kidder, Gilbert P. Kidder, Edward H. Kidder, against Fort Fisher Land and Development Company. Notice:

To Whom it May Concern—

The parties above named and all persons interested will take notice that on the Twentieth day of February, 1916, the above named petitioners filed a petition in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of New Hanover County, to have the title to certain lands therein described registered and confirmed pursuant to Chapter 90 of the Public Laws of 1913, and that summons has been issued, returnable at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of New Hanover County, on the 22nd day of May, 1916. Said land is situate in Federal Point Township, in the County of New Hanover and said State, adjoining the land of Fort Fisher Land & Development Company, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a galvanized iron pipe driven into the ground on the east bank of the Cape Fear River, at a place called the "Cove," near the west end of the ruins of Fort Fisher, said pipe being located about 300 feet below the southern edge of the ledge of rock on the said river bank, and runs thence south 70 degrees east, 311 feet to another galvanized iron pipe in a pile of bricks where an old house formerly stood; thence south 52 degrees east 419 feet to a large white stone in the center of the foundation of the old lighthouse, at the ruins of Fort Fisher; thence South 44 degrees east, 787 feet to an iron pipe in the high water mark on the shore of the Atlantic Ocean; thence along the same course about 200 feet to the low water mark on the shore of the Atlantic Ocean; thence with the low water mark along the shore line of said ocean in a generally southwesterly direction to an inlet across Carolina Shoal Beach; thence with the northerly side of said inlet to the easterly edge of Still Water Basin, at the low water mark; thence with the easterly and northerly edge of said basin with low water mark to the Government Rock Dam where the same connects with the mainland; thence westwardly across said rock dam to the easterly bank of the Cape Fair River; thence with the various courses of the said bank of the said river, along the low water mark in a northeasterly direction, and including the marsh or hammocks known as Grassy Island, to a point in the low water mark of the Cape Fear River near the east bank of same, said point being North 70 degrees West from the beginning point, and distant therefrom 260 feet; thence South 70 degrees East, 260 feet, to the beginning point. Same containing 612 acres more or less and being the same tract or parcel of land conveyed or intended to be conveyed to Geo. W. Kidder, surviving partner of Edward Kidder & Son, by Geo. Rountree, Commissioner, by deed bearing date February 13th, 1891, and duly recorded in the records of New Hanover County aforesaid, in Book 6, at page 623.

W. N. HARRISS,
Clerk Superior Court, New Hanover County.

This 16th day of March, 1916.

MACK'S GLADIATORS WIN OVER RYAN'S TAR HEELS

American League Team Defeats Virginia League Team from Rocky Mount, 3 to 1.

FIRST AT SUNSET PARK

Between 500 and 600 Fans and Fanettes Witnessed Major League Ball Game Here Yesterday Afternoon.

Between 500 and 600 Wilmington fans and fanettes graced the stands and bleachers at Sunset Park yesterday at the opening game of the baseball season and saw Connie Mack's regulars defeat the Tar Heels, 3 to 1. The game, while slow in spots, was interesting throughout and well played. Interest was kept up by the fact that there was a chance to the very end for the Virginia Leaguers to at least tie the score.

Mack used three pitchers against the Tar Heels, working "Bullet" Joe Bush, Chief Meyers and Tom Sheehan, several innings each in the order named. Myers is a youngster secured from the Raleigh club, the others being veterans. Sheehan was the easiest of the trio, the Rocky Mounters getting two hits off him.

Manager Ryan, of the Rocky Mount team used the same number. They were Applegate, Pope and Teague. The Mackmen found Applegate the easiest of the three to hit, and they averaged a hit each inning for the four he pitched.

It was a good-natured crowd that witnessed the game, and there was a goodly number of ladies scattered through the grandstand. Good work on the part of the players on either side was generously applauded. The day was almost ideal for such an event, although the air was a trifle chilly.

DAVIDSON DEFEATS RICHMOND; HASN'T LOST A GAME YET!

(Special Star Telegram.)

Davidson, N. C., April 6.—In a close game of four to three, Davidson defeated Richmond College on the local grounds this afternoon. Lawson pitched the entire game for Davidson, while the visitors ran three men in the box to stop the rush.

Younger, for Davidson, played good ball in left field, handling several flies that came his way with ease, making a sensational throw to third from back of the field. Richmond's third baseman deserves mention for a pretty pick up of a hot one. This is the fifth game Davidson has played this season and out of these has not lost one.

HANSON AND BRUCE TONIGHT

Local Wrestler Will Meet Man Who Won From Big Max Schmidt at New Bern Wednesday Night.

Jene Bruce, a stocky little Finn whose shoulders are almost as wide as he is inches tall, will be Fritz Hanson's opponent on the Academy of Music mat this evening, and all indications point to some hard work cut out for the local favorite. The match will be two falls out of three to a finish, with Gunner McGurley, of Fort Caswell, presiding as referee.

Bruce won from big Max Schmidt at Newbern Wednesday night, when at the end of 57 minutes he picked the big Dutchman up bodily and hurled him to the mat, fracturing his collar bone. The local fans who remember Schmidt will concede that it takes some man to heft big Max around in any such style, and they will judge from this that Fritz has his work cut out for him tonight is he is to avoid a like fate.

Bruce will have the advantage of something like 12 pounds in weight over Hanson, but the local fans have seen Fritz take a weight handicap so often and come off the victor that they know that weight alone will not win for the visitor. However, with anything like an equal amount of skill and science, the visitor's weight will stand him in excellent stead.

Tonight's match will be the first one here in nearly two weeks, and it will doubtless be witnessed by a large house. In addition to the main bout a fast preliminary will be staged, beginning promptly at 8:30 o'clock. This will bring the main event on about 9 o'clock.

ALL STARS AGAINST DODGERS.

Wednesday Night League Teams to Meet at Boys Brigade Tonight.

Sholar's All Stars and Montgomery's Dodgers basketball teams will meet tonight at the Boys' Brigade armory for a game which in all probability will be a hummer from start to finish, and a large crowd is expected to attend. These two teams played on the Thursday Night League of the Brigade, whose second series has just come to an end, Captain Montgomery's Dodgers having won the series.

Sholar's team is a picked team from the other three teams of the same league and he claims to have them rounded into good shape for the Dodgers tonight. The proceeds of the game tonight are for the benefit of the Building Circle of the Fifth Avenue Epworth League and a small admission will be charged. The game will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock and Mr. Harry Register, an authority on basketball, has consented to referee the game.

The line-up for tonight will be as follows: Dodgers—Rourk and N. Davis, forwards; H. Gerdes, center; B. Cameron and Montgomery, guards. All Stars—Ellis and M. Register, forwards; Gerdes, center; Snakenburg Sholar and Robert James, guards.

LAREAU TAKES BEST TWO OUT OF THREE FROM MATSUDA

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 6.—Louis Lareau won best two out of three falls in a fast wrestling match tonight with Mattie Matsuda, the Jap. He got the first fall in 12 minutes, lost the second to Matsuda in six minutes, and then thrust the Jap's shoulders to the mat in 24 minutes for the final bout.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 6. — Charles Skehens, of Woods' Hole, Mass.; Philip Carter, of New York; Frank Dyer, of Montclair, and W. M. Paul, of Charlotte, won their games in the United North and South golf championship here today. Tomorrow Skehens will meet Carter and Dyer will play Paul in the semi-finals.

Wake Forest College Shuts Out Carolina

SCORE 3 TO 0 AT ROCKY MOUNT IN HOTLY CONTESTED CLASH IN CHILLY WEATHER UNDER THREATENING SKIES.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., April 6.—Threatening clouds and shivering cold didn't disdain the loyal alumni and the faithful ones who were rewarded for their journey to League park today with a hotly contested clash of college teams in which Wake Forest claimed the honors from the University of North Carolina with a 3 to 0 score.

In Ellis, the Baptist firing artist, the University students found a master who kept the game well within his grasp all the time, and, with able and at times sensational support by his teammates, he was never in trouble and third base was occupied but once during the nine frames. In the fielding department Wake Forest never lagged for once, while Carlyle and Sams, at short and second, respectively, staged fielding sensations in rapid fire order that brought the stands to their feet.

Opposing Ellis was the former Wake Forest flinger, Cuthrell, who suffered by the comparison with his successor, for the fellow was hit timely, especially in the first frame, when four safe ones were dropped for half that number of tallies, while in the next session Wake Forest renewed its onslaught and with a base on balls and two safe bingles sent the third runner across and ended the scoring.

From this time on the clubs settled down and with a clock-like precision wound up inning after inning, despite the manifestation of fight upon the part of Carolina in hope of tieing the score, but each time Ellis measured up to the occasion and but once after the first inning did a Tar Heel runner reach second and then with two men out.

Herzog was ordered to the bench. He stood in the coaching box until Umpire Friel declared the game forfeited. At that time the score stood Cincinnati, 4; Columbus, 2.

High School Baseball Team Will Go to That City Today for Game.

The baseball team of the Wilmington High School will go to Newbern this morning to meet the strong High School team of that city in the first game of the season for the local boys. The Wilmington team has been busily engaged for several weeks getting in shape for meeting the Newbern boys and they expect to give a good account of themselves in the game today.

Mr. Bert Kite, who was the star catcher for the Wilmington Sailors in the Eastern Carolina League a few years ago, has been coaching the team and has found some excellent material.

VIRGINIA DEFEATS WILLIAMS COLLEGE BY SCORE OF 12 TO 6.

Charlottesville, Va. April 6—Virginia defeated Williams here today by a score of 12 to 6. Young held the Southerners hitless for three innings and then issued 12 passes. McCall was effective after the first inning.

Does Your Husband Drink?

YES, we know the uncertainty, the broken promises, the dissipated fortune, the disgrace and the heartaches. You have suffered only what a drinking man's wife can suffer. And you have tried perhaps everything you can think of—from pledges to so-called "home-cures." But don't despair—for the drinking habit can be cured. Yes, really cured. With no humiliation, no inconvenience, and with no great expense.

In the eighteen years that I have been President of the Greensboro Keeley Institute we have sent 6,500 patients back to their families—new men. With new life, new vigor, new nerves and new self-respect. With a healthy appetite that gives them necessary strength to say "no" to any temptation that may be encountered.

Our cure will give you back your heritage of happiness. The kind of prosperous, happy home you used to have. It will dissipate forever the clouds of humiliation and disgrace that have so long hovered over your head.

Send today for our booklet. It will give you all details.

ROBBERS HOLD UP CASHIER AND TAKE $15,000 FROM BANK.

Detectives Scour Hills in Vicinity of Houston, Pa., for Bandits.

Canonsburg, Pa., April 6.—Detectives scoured the hills in the vicinity of Houston, one mile west of here, tonight in a vain effort to find the two men who today robbed the First National Bank of Houston of $15,000 and escaped in an automobile. The cashier, who was alone in the bank at the time of the robbery, has given the police a very complete description of the men.

Shortly after noon two men entered the bank and one laid a piece of paper about the size of a check on the counter in front of the cashier. On the paper was written "Make a move and you will be shot." When McNutt looked up two revolvers were leveled at him. While one of the men guarded the cashier the other took about $15,000 in bills from the vault, leaving $3,000 in gold and silver untouched. Both then hurried out of the building and jumped into an automobile which they had left standing in front of the bank.

DR. STUART McGUIRE SPEAKS TO WAKE FOREST STUDENTS

Anniversary of Organization of Student Medical Society.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Wake Forest, N. C., April 6.—William Edgar Marshall Medical Society, of Wake Forest Medical School, celebrated the first anniversary of its organization tonight with Dr. Stuart McGuire, dean of the Medical College of Virginia, at Richmond, as principal speaker. Dr. McGuire had for his subject "Discoveries That Have Placed the Medical Profession on Its Present Basis." In discussing this subject the speaker took up in most interesting manner the history of anaesthetics and antiseptics and their relation to modern surgery. In closing, Dr. McGuire spoke of present knowledge of appendicitis and cancer. Following the address, the medical society tendered a reception to Dr. McGuire, the faculty and the visiting physicians.

PLANTER SHOT THROUGH WINDOW

Martin County Folks Indignant Over Crime of a Negro.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., April 6.—The Everett section of Martin county is greatly aroused over the shooting of Mr. Cecil Moore, a prominent planter, by a negro, John Guilford, who is held in the county jail at Williamston, and there is some indignation at the crime, as the injured man's life hangs in the balance. The shooting, according to a report reaching this city, occurred Tuesday night and it was preceded by a disagreement and some words between the white and the black. Tuesday night Guilford approached the home without warning and taking a position of vantage in the yard, he awaited an opportunity of the appearance of Mr. Moore in the sitting room of the house and as he did the negro fired upon him through the window with a pistol or rifle, striking him in the shoulder which was shattered and the ball then ranged through his body, coming out on the other side.

PLANS OF FORT FOUND.

Are Taken from Negro Who Said a White Man Gave Them to Him.

Macon, Ga., April 6.—What recruiting officers described as plans of Fort Oglethorpe, near Chattanooga, were found today in possession of a negro by officers of the local recruiting station, it was learned tonight. The negro said a white man gave him the plans. Officers are trying to find the white man, and it was said they have advised the War Department of the affair.

PENLAND GIVEN SENTENCE.

North Carolinian Charged With Violating White Slave Act.

Greenville, S. C., April 6.—Charlie Penland, a young man of Asheville, N. C., was found guilty today in Federal court of violating the Mann White Slave act, and was sentenced to two years in the Federal prison at Atlanta. Penland transported a girl from Asheville to Greenville and registered at a local hotel as man and wife.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

The road of right has neither turn nor bend,
It stretches straight unto the highest goal;
Hard, long and lonely? yes, yet never soul
Can lose the way thereon, nor miss the end. —LEONARD.

Come on in. The water's fine here where it's dry.

We don't see how it is possible to libel some men.

The Republicans won't know the road to go home till they cross the bridge at Chicago.

Don't worry. The cunning of a besmirched politician in any country is not equal to the strategem of a statesman.

If we want Wilmington to grow we had better follow the example of industrial centers. More payrolls bring more people. Don't we realize it yet, already?

They are reminding us of the decadence of once imperial Rome, but we all "do as Rome does" and we seem to be determined to do whatever Rome did. What do people care about examples?

It has been stated that when the Colonel was in Europe he "uncovered" and even wept at the grave of Napoleon. However, our recollection is that Napoleon never stood back on any country's neutrality or sovereignty. We ought to be consistent when we make a choice of our ideals.

There is some satisfaction in belonging to a political party which can nominate a candidate for president without consulting some individual to get his consent. A party outlives its usefulness when one man domineers the organization and has the nerve to play the role of dictator without having his jurisdiction seriously questioned.

It is stated that 4,000,000 women will be eligible to vote for president in the election next November. In the states where women vote, no candidate is going around saying that "woman's place is at home." We ought to be worrying around to make a home for them unless we want them to get into politics or to get politics into them.

Congress is wrestling with just what we expected and predicted—the kind of military preparedness that will not only provide the country with a military reserve but a military political machine that already is making its influence felt in Congress. Any military system with political power as one of its characteristics is not only an experiment but is bound to prove a failure. It will fail of its own weight.

Now that the tercentenary of Shakespeare is approaching, it revives interest in highbrows who have criticised the text of Shakespeare's productions. Our idea of it is, however, that Shakespeare made more reputation as a writer than those who have criticised what he wrote. Anyhow, after a fellow writes something, it is easier to criticise what he wrote than it is to write something equally as good. All editors and writers will agree to this, and so would Shakespeare if he were here with the balance of us writers.

Says the Jacksonville Times-Union: "Some men are kicking because a prize fighter gets more money than a minister of the gospel." Bedads, this shows that the crowd which goes to church is less disposed to turn loose its wad than the crowd which congregates around the ring. Possibly that accounts for the difference. The average churchgoer might make up for the difference by being as enthusiastic and liberal towards a preacher as a sport is towards a prize fighter. The philisophy of it is that the state of mind makes us either a tightwad or a spendthrift. Yet if preachers were as few as prize fighters ,each might get a bigger crowd and bigger wad, while if prize fighters were as numerous as ministers they would draw no larger crowd nor better pay, perhaps.

NOT LENOIR COUNTY'S LYNCHING.

Lenoir county has not had a lynching in fifty years, an enviable record which the Kinston Daily News is quick to commend and defend, owing to the fact that a Greene county mob visited Kinston at an early hour Wednesday morning, took Joe Black, a negro, from the Lenoir county jail and carried him back to Greene county and shot him to death. Fortunately for the good county of Lenoir, the lynching was not done by her citizens nor within the confines of Lenoir.

The News is jealous of the fair name of its county and takes satisfaction in declaring that "Lenoir's escutcheon was not blotted with the lynching of Joe Black by a Greene county mob." A mob from the adjoining county took the negro from the jail at Kinston but carried him back to their county, as his body was found Wednesday morning near Maury, Greene county, near the scene of the horrible crime committed on the little Tyson girl by Will Black, son of the man who was shot to death. It is said that Black's body had about 20 bullets in it. The News gives this as the motive for the summary punishment visited upon the father of the young negro who committed the fiendish crime:

"Remarks that Joe Black is alleged to have made to the Tyson family after his son, Will Black, had committed his atrocious assault on little Mattie Tyson and her mother who went to her rescue, are said to be responsible for enraging the citizens of the section against him. It is said that he visited the Tyson home, after the outrage and threatened to destroy the family and burn their home if ill befell his son for his crime. His act of heavily arming the rapist and incendiary talk aroused the people to such an extent that they did not rest satisfied when Joe Black was arrested. Will Black is confined in the penitentiary in Raleigh for safe-keeping and a report was current yesterday that Governor Craig has ordered a special term of court in Greene county May 15th to try him. It was freely predicted here and in Greene county that this would not be safe and that summary punishment would be dealt Black if brought back to the county now for trial."

The fact that the Lenoir people are gratified that the lynching did not occur in their county is evidence enough of the unjustifiable act of citizens who take the law into their own hands, or trample it under their feet, and therein commit a crime themselves to avenge a crime. It is deplorable that citizens who consider themselves law-abiding will make vengeance a motive for their own unlawful act in taking life contrary to the laws of their state. The most heinous crimes on the part of a criminal can never justify right thinking men in taking a hand in crime themselves.

DEMANDING A TARIFF ON DYESTUFFS.

Dr. Charles H. Herty, of the faculty of the University of North Carolina, president of the American Chemical Society, was one of the speakers at the opening session of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association in Atlanta on Tuesday. Dr. Herty seems to be unreasonably obsessed of the necessity for placing a high protective tariff on dyestuffs, and accordingly he severely rapped Secretary Redfield and the Democratic majority of the Ways and Means committee of the House of Representatives for their opposition to such a duty.

Dr. Herty spoke with so much earnestness and force that following his address Mr. W. A. Erwin, secretary and treasurer of the Erwin Cotton Mills Company, West Durham, N. C., and president of the association in 1913, introduced a set of resolutions embodying Mr. Herty's recommendation of action on the part of the convention in the nature of a demand for the speedy enactment by Congress of a tariff schedule for the protection of the dyestuffs industry and anti-dumping legislation which would protect the American cotton textile industry. The resolutions were adopted unanimously by the convention amid vigorous applause.

The manufacturers endorsed Dr. Herty's contention that an astonishing situation presents itself to the American nation in the fact that the country has no dye industry and may be at the mercy of Germany when the war in Europe is at an end. Just now there is a very serious emergency for the manufacturers owing to the dye shortage brought about by the war, but we will venture the assertion that as soon as the war is over, the manufacturers would kick like a set of Texas steers if they had to pay high prices for protected American dyes, when they could purchase better from Germany at a lower price.

Possibly it may be really necessary to help the American dye industry get on its feet, but if it follows the rule of all other protected interests it would form a trust and soon have the textile interests at its mercy. Probably not, but if not, the American dye industry would be different from others which have abused protection to such an extent as to create unreasonable opposition to it, even when it is economically wise. With foreign competition shut out, protected industries have made it a custom to form a combination at home to prevent competition among themselves, so that if the infant dye industry were to do that, the manufacturers would be the first to appeal for relief.

Dr. Herty gave remarkably strong reasons for tariff aid to build up an American dye industry, and the pressure for it is great, but the question is how long the manufacturers would stand for it when German manufacturers begin to make them offerings of their products at lower prices than they could be bought in America.

The Colonel's bird with whiskers can be taken to the Chicago convention and be introduced as a delegate from Kansas.

THE MICA ISSUE

About the most absurd political issue sprung by Republicans in the mica producing regions of North Carolina is that of the alleged ruin of the mica mining industry by means of the Wilson administration. It would seem like a joke were it not that the Charlotte Observer declares that the report of the speech made in Baskerville by Mr. Charles Greene, Republican candidate for congressional nomination against Mr. Webb, will prove funnier to the general public than it will to the Democratic campaign managers in the Ninth district.

It would seem that the Democratic managers certainly ought to be able to handle the mica issue, if the voters of the Ninth district are fairly intelligent. Candidate Greene reflects seriously on their common sense or displays a lack of it himself when he plays the voters for simple-minded folk. They certainly ought to resent the candidacy of a man who counts upon scoring by appealing to downright credulity and stupidity for votes. If there is any legitimate mica mining industry in Western North Carolina it certainly ought to flourish while mica is selling at its highest price, owing to the fact that the war in Europe has practically shut off the large mica supply from Russia.

Russia, New Hampshire and North Carolina furnish most of the commercial mica produced in the world, but the greatest producer is Russia, where mica is known as muscovite. Russia's mica mining industry was paralyzed by the war and it caused prices to soar so high that it should have created a boom in the North Carolina mica region. The war has caused a tremendous boom in iron, copper and other mining industries, and if the Wilson administration is blamed for the failure of North Carolina mica miners to make good it would have been impossible for all other kinds of mining to be on a tremendous boom, as they are at present.

We are inclined to give the Ninth district voters credit for more sense than to believe the Greene line of argument. Otherwise they ought to believe that the gold mining industry was destroyed under about fifty years of Republicanism. It wasn't of course, but why shouldn't the voters believe it if they believe the kind of twaddle given them by Candidate Greene?

THE CARROT INDUSTRY GETS A BOOST.

It is a curious incident that the war in Europe has given a tremendous boost to carrot growing in the United States. More than 8,000 pounds of carrot seed are needed to produce a crop sufficient for the requirements of the American meat packers who have been awarded the British government contract for 600,000,000 cans of beef stew for the army. The $91,000,000 orders for this one army ration is being handled by the Imperial Canners Company (Limited), a Canadian concern organized especially for this purpose a month ago by Philadelphians interested in the Colonial Packing Company.

Carrots enter into this beef stew ration and it will require an immense crop to supply the needs of the packers. Carrot seed have gone up as a consequence and the country is being raked over for seed. The South is the place to grow carrots and the Philadelphia Public Ledger says the J. T. Polk Company, of that city, already has under lease 4,500 acres in small farms in Florida and Georgia, where they will grow nothing but carrots. They are now ready to plant. The crop, seedmen say, will require only 60 to 70 days to grow in the South.

CURRENT COMMENT

Do you realize that if we had half a dozen roads like the High Point boulevard, radiating in as many directions, there would be 100,000 people who would come to Greensboro to shop when they expected to spend as much as $5?—Greensboro News.

Since Goldsboro has laid claim to being the home of Ernest Schiller, the German who held up the entire crew of a British ship a few days ago, we have been expecting to see a dispatch from Kinston bearing the startling news that he had visited in that city some time in the days gone by.—New Bern Sun-Journal.

"The automobile business is fine," said President John G. Anderson, of the Anderson Motor Company, to representative of The Herald, who was taking a look through the plant. The air which pervaded the plant substantiated the words of the president. Anderson cars in every stage of building were on every hand and a force of skilled employes was busily engaged in turning out the finished products. President Anderson was enthusiastic. The Anderson is selling faster than the cars can be made. The demand this year will exceed the supply by several times the present capacity of the plant. The car has made good from the start and territory is being assigned to dealers every day. Several have been in the city this week making an effort to secure early delivery of cars.—Rock Hill Herald.

If it keeps on The Observer will have to hang out the sign: "N. M. L. N." which being interpreted, means, "No More Lawyers Needed." The war boom has not yet struck our pocketbook and we were a little disturbed in mind as to where the money should come from for the employment of the necessary counsel in the handling of our case with Mr. Butler, when there came an easement of mind by reason of the many offers of voluntary service, not only at home, but from lawyers in other at home, but from lawyers in other towns. From perplexity as to how we might get enough lawyers, it turns to perplexity as to how we could find a way to make room for all who want to get on the job. Practically the whole of the Charlotte bar wants a hand in it. If it was lawyers The Observer wanted, its needs have been amply provided.—Charlotte Observer.

The Chronicle congratulates, most heartily, the retail merchants of Augusta on their voluntary action—as announced in this paper last Friday—in discontinuing the use of trading stamps in this city on and after April 15th next. Not only have these leading merchants of Augusta shown good business judgment in relieving themselves of this entirely unnecessary business burden, but they have, at the same time, by their voluntary co-operative action shown a fine get-together spirit; one that will make for the upbuilding and advancement of Augusta, if kept alive and persisted in for a time, as it, no doubt, will be. It is a fine thing for men engaged in similar lines of business to be able to recognize the mutuality of interests that exists between himself and his competitor; and, while never failing to keep up legitimate competition, be at all times willing to give and take and be guided by a broad spirit of co-operation. In giving trading stamps to their customers—which was done, primarily, for the purpose of inducing cash purchases and the prompt payment of accounts—the merchants of Augusta, like the merchants of many other cities, entered upon a false business programme to which there was no end; with the result that, in time, it became too burdensome to be borne by the smaller merchants and of no practical value to the larger ones.—Augusta Chronicle.

MR. C. C. HOLLINGSWORTH DEAD.

Magnolia Citizen Brought to Hospital in Wilmington.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Magnolia, N. C., April 6.—Mr. C. C. Hollingsworth, a farmer living about two miles from here, died in Goldsboro yesterday morning. He had been separated from his wife about three months and had been brooding over his troubles very much ever snice they had been separated. The doctor said he had pneumonia.

The remains were brought down on the train and buried at his farm yesterday afternoon. Rev. R. F. Munns conducted the funeral. He leaves a wife and three small children. The funeral was attended by a very large number of his friends and relatives.

Mr. C. P. Gaylor was carried to Wilmington to enter the hospital, this morning. Mr. Gaylor was suffering with an affection of the throat. He came very near dying yesterday and last night Dr. Murphy was called up from Wilmington to help Dr. Quinn make an incision in his throat, which gave him temporary relief. Mr. Gaylor has had much trouble with his throat and had an operation performed on it about two years ago at the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE NOTES.

Comparative Figures on North Carolina Colleges—High School Debate.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Davidson, N. C., April 6.—An interesting comparison of the nine leading colleges in the State as published in The Davidsonian gives Davidson the place next to the top of the list. The University leads and Trinity comes in for a close third. The report gives Davidson the following standing: Total enrollment, 333; faculty members, 13; faculty members holding advanced degrees, 12; laboratory, adequate (crowded); library, 25,000; units required, 14; enforced, yes; records, excellent; endowment, $276,100.

Sixty-two schools in this district will send representatives to Davidson to compete in the annual High School contest. These contests will be held April 6 and 7, and will be of athletic and literary nature. In an effort to encourage these students in these events the faculty has given the students of the college one half holiday on Friday, the 7th.

FIRE IN PITT COUNTY.

Store of V. C. Fleming & Co., Near Greenville, Burned With Contents.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greenville, N. C., April 6.—The store and contents, owned and occupied by V. C. Fleming & Company, at the Cross Roads, two miles north of this city, were entirely destroyed by fire last night, except the safe and its contents. The fire was discovered by the clerk, who slept in the store, about 11 o'clock, and it was then burning rapidly. He hurried to waken Mr. V. C. Fleming, who lives but a short distance from the store. Having done this he hurried back to find the fire had spread over the inside of the store so much that he could save nothing but a few of his own clothes. Before help of any kind could get there the whole building was a mass of flames and no one could get into it to get out anything.

TIME TO BE MOVED UP

All Clocks in Germany to Be Moved Up One Hour May 1.

Berlin, April 6 (by Wireless).—The German Federal council has passed a measure providing that on May 1 all clocks shall be set ahead one hour. The measure was proposed for hygienic an decnomic reasons, as lengthening working time during daylight and decreasing the necessity for artificial light.

DOCTORS, GRANDMAS,' CHILDREN AND WORMS.

The more uncleanly a child is in his whole behavior the more likely he is to have worms. When grandma insists "It is worms as sure as I'm alive!" she probably knows how very, very uncleanly the child is. For a child becomes infested with round worms (the ascaris lumbricoides), or thread worms (oxyuris vermicularis), only by getting into the mouth and stomach particles of earth or dirt contaminated with the eggs or invisible embryos, which develop later into adult worms. The earth in all social communities, both in the lesser alleys and on the highbrow avenues, is pretty well sown with these larval forms.

Prevention of worms, then, has nothing to do with the regulation of sweets in the diet—grandma and the medicine fakers to the contrary notwithstanding. Worms never grow except from eggs, and eggs never come into being except from worms. Prevention of worms is personal cleanliness. Above all things a child should never be permitted to eat anything unless he first carefully washes his hands. Or an adult either, for the matter of that. Adults have worms as frequently, if not more frequently, than children. We are speaking now of round worms and thread worms only. Of course adults have tapeworms much more frequently than children do, because tapeworms are acquired only by eating raw or insufficiently cooked (sterilized) pork, beef or fish.

Coming now to the symptoms of worms—here's where grandma gets a rude setback—the simple truth is that "there ain't goin' to be no symptoms." All the cherished symptoms of the almanac, the nostrum vender and, we regret to say (honestly we do!) even of the old women of the neighborhood, amount to nothing at all in a diagnostic way. Heavy breath, coated tongue, bright eyes, feverishness, white lines about the "gills," restlessness, picking at the nose, nightmares, et cetera, are familiar symptoms of acute acid intoxication or acute intestinal indigestion due to improper feeding, but these symptoms by no means warrant praguing the child with alleged "worm medicine." Better give a teaspoonful of soda in a little water, especially if nausea and vomiting occur. But no worm medicine. In short, one is justified in treating a child for worms only when the worms themselves appear in evacuations, or their eggs are discovered by the doctor with his microscope. And, incidentally, worm medicine is worthless unless a dose or two cures. Likewise, no known remedy will "dissolve" the worms in situ. If the medicine "gets" the worms your eyes will tell you when and how many.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nickels, They Go Easy.

"You'll find the medicinal oils in these cough drops will 'prevent sore throat and coughs," quotes an astute practitioner of the law. How about it? Will they?

Answer—If you could extract all the "medicinal oils" from a jitney's worth, and spray the concentrated essence upon an approaching bevy of pneumoccocci, it might alarm them somewhat, but as for preventing sore throats and coughs—nickels go easy, don't they?

Ipecac or Emetine Toth Paste.

Have any of the popular dentifrices on the market emetine or ipecac in them? A friend found this drug wonderfully effective for chronic spongy bleeding gums.

Answer—Pyor dental cream contains ipecac, and others, too.

DR. WALLER PREACHES DEDICATORY SERMON

"The Christian's Biggest Job" Subject Address

Large Audience Attends Initial Service in Tabernacle for Chapman-Alexander Meetings—Special Music a Feature.

In the presence of a large audience composed of representatives of practically every denomination in Wilmington, the big Tabernacle on Castle street, between Third and Fourth, which was erected especially for the Chapman-Alexander meetings, was formally dedicated last evening by Rev. Dr. Calvin B. Waller, pastor of the First Baptist church in Asheville, who made an inspiring address on "The Christian's Biggest Job." The singing of the large choir under the direction of Rev. C. L. Evarts and solos by Mr. Albert Brown were features of the occasion.

The opening service was under most auspicious circumstances. The weather was ideal and every arrangement complete to the smallest detail. Dr. Waller in his address spoke of the splendid meetings held in Asheville the past year by Dr. Chapman and Mr. Alexander and commended them to the people of Wilmington in words of unstinted praise. Dr. Waller is one of the leading Baptist ministers of the South and he will be the host of the Southern Baptist Convention when it meets in Asheville in May.

Mr. Henry Barraclough, pianist of the Chapman-Alexander party, assisted in the musical programme last evening. Mr. Brown, soloist of the party, sang "My Sins Are Forgiven," and at the close of the service by request of Dr. Waller sang "The Prodigal Son." This last selection is one that Mr. Brown has sung in many Southern cities and everywhere it has been received with much favor. Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, presided at the service last night.

While the choir was not as large as it is expected that it will be for the meetings, under the capable direction of Mr. Evarts, a number of the Alexander songs were sung and this proved to be one of the most inspiring features of the service.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Wilbur Chapman will arrive in the city this morning and this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Chapman will meet the ministers of the city to complete the final arrangements for the meetings which begin Sunday. Dr. Chapman will have personal charge of the revival after today until its close.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander will arrive in the city tomorrow and tomorrow night the big choir will have its first rehearsal under Mr. Alexander's direction at the Tabernacle.

Mr. W. W. Rock, secretary to Mr. Alexander, arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. L. M. Potts, secretary to Dr. Chapman, arrived several days ago. Mr. B. A. Mills, assistant to Mr. Alexander, has arrived. The other members of the party are Mr. Albert Brown, soloist, and Mr. Henry Barraclough, pianist.

Dr. Waller's Address.

Dr. Waller, following preliminary remarks in which he told of the splendid work accomplished in Asheville as a result of the Chapman-Alexander meetings there, spoke in part as follows:

"The Christian's biggest job is fishing for men. Our Lord did not say to His disciples, 'Follow me and I will make you great singers, great teachers, great preachers,' but He did say, 'Follow me and I will make you fishers of men.' The primary task of the Christian is soul-winning. Christianity is essentially altruistic—it is not self-centered, it works out from self to humanity. The high aim of the true Christian is not to bring all good things to himself, but to bring all men to Jesus.

"Our blessed Lord said in His intercessory prayer: 'As Thou (the Father) hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them (the disciples) into the world.' (John 17:18). And of His mission in the world, he said: 'The Son of Man is come to seek and save that which was lost.' (Luke 19:10). His task was soul-winning; so therefore, as His mission is our mission, so soul-winning is the Christian's chief task.

"Some time ago a physician of world renown, at the head of a great hospital in an Eastern city, told in a church prayer meeting of how a wealthy man had come from a Western state to be operated upon. There was one chance in a thousand for his recovery. Just before the operation the physician asked the attendants and nurses to leave the room, whereupon he inquired of the wealthy patient if he were a Christian. The reply was 'My mother was a devout Christian. She raised me right. As wealth came, temptations of pleasure and sin came. I married a woman who was only a nominal Christian. She was a pleasure lover. I lost interest in the problem of my personal religion. I am a dying man, and I am Christless and hopeless.'

"The doctor replied: 'I am a Christian; this is a serious operation, and I do not want any man to go from my operating table to hell.' Then this Christian physician related how he told this hopeless soul, in sight of eternity, of a crucified Saviour, and how he brought the broken hearted man to Jesus there on the operating table. The operation was performed; it proved fatal; within an hour this new-born soul was in eternity. And then with a great spiritual emphasis, the physician said. 'This is the main job of a Christian.'

"In these few burning words this man of God has summed up the main business of every Christian—soul-winning.

"Full many churches are dead spiritually because the fires of evangelism have gone out. The call of the hour is not for an army in the trenches but an army on the march; not for the evangelical in Christianity, but the evangelistic. Too many churches are filled with Christians trained to a defense of their 'dignity,' and orthodoxy, while the heart-cry of the world is, 'Sirs, we would see Jesus.'

"Dr. A. C. Dixon has said: 'It is not enough to be evangelical; we must be evangelistic. Evangelical may mean truth on ice; evangelistic means truth on fire. Evangelical may mean a fort bomb-proof for defense; evangelistic means an army on the march, with every face to the foe. Evangelical

TOMORROW WILL BE TAG DAY

Wilmington Boy Scouts Seeking Donations to Be Used in Extension of Camp Work.

The Boy Scouts of the city uniting under the leadership of Scout Commissioner Odis B. Hinnant, and under the direction of the local council of which Mr. B. A. Merritt is president, Mr. John J. Blair, vice president, Mr. Swift Boatwright, secretary and treasurer, have decided to hold their second annual tag day tomorrow. Money derived from this source will be used in the extension of the camp work for all the boys of the city.

Members of the local council are as follows: Col. Walker Taylor Mr. Sam Matthews, Mr. Joe Jacobi, Mr. H. E. Longley, Mr. W. R. Dosher, Mr. J. B. Huntington, Mr. D. H. Howes, Mr. Neill McEachern, Mr. Raymond Hunt, Dr. J. V. Sidbury, Dr. T. B. Carroll and Mr. H. E. Bonitz.

The public are requested to give their donations in exchange for a tag, which they will find at the following stations in charge of the following boys:

Red Cross and Front—Neill McEachern and John Dudley.

Walnut and Front—Howard Green and Howard Penton.

Grace and Front—John Clark and Tom Farmer.

Chestnut and Front—Dan Penton and John Hardin.

Princess and Front—William Ek and Harry Tucker.

Dock and Front—Graham Farmer and Reginald Bloome.

Third and Princess—James Smith and and Joe Howe.

Second and Princess—Eugene Hardin and William Mahler.

Orange and Front—Wesley Turrentine.

There will be several scouts who will visit the business sections of the city in a flying squadron. All the scouts will wear their suits with their various badges so that they can be identified by the public. Dinner will be served to all the teams at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday at 12:30 p. m.

The scout work in Wilmington has made rapid strides in the past year, having grown fram one troop to eight, and from an enrollment of 20 to an enrollment beyond 90, and at a recent organization of the local council, which safeguards the future of the scout work of the city, Wilmington has placed itself alongside of the best Southern cities in scout work.

Mayor Moore last night issued the following statement:

"To the Citizens of Wilmington:

"The Boy Scouts of America is an organization composed of the youth of our land, whose purpose is to teach obedience, honesty and faithfulness by their daily walk in life and to render their best service to the city, state and nation in all things that tend to make this a greater, better and happier country.

"The scouts of Wilmington are more than 100 strong and they are a factor in the life of this community. They are active in making this a city beautiful and are standing at all times for a cleaner and better Wilmington.

"Saturday, April 8, has been selected as Tag day by the Wilmington Scouts for the purpose of raising money to purchase a camping outfit. I heartily commend the cause to the generous people of our city and urge that they respond liberally when called upon by the Boy Scouts.

"P. Q. MOORE,

ATTORNEY GENERAL BICKETT HERE ON WAY TO COLUMBUS

Says "Water's Fine" With Reference to His Campaign for Governor.

Attorney General T. W. Bickett, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, arrived in Wilmington last evening and spent the night in the city, on his way to Whiteville, where he will be the principal speaker today at the Columbus county commencement. He will go to Whiteville this morning. He spent most of the day yesterday at Burgaw in the interest of his candidacy.

"The Water's Fine," was Mr. Bickett's laconic reply when asked last night about the progress of his campaign and the prospect of his nomination in the State-wide primary on June 3. The attorney general appeared in the finest spirit and very optimistic as to the outcome of his race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Quite a good number of Wilmingtonians are expected to go to Whiteville today to attend the commencement exercises, leaving here at 7:40 on the special train to be operated by the Atlantic Coast Line.

WITH RICHMOND CONCERN

Son of Major P. F. Duffy, Formerly of Wilmington, Visits Old Home.

Mr. James L. Duffy, son of the late Major P. F. Duffy, who at one time lived in Wilmington, is now traveling for a concern in Richmond, Va. He was formerly a traveling salesman for the C. C. Covington Company, of Wilmington. The Winston-Salem Sentinel this week had the following:

"Mr. Duffy is a son of the late Major P. F. Duffy, well remembered by many in Winston-Salem. It was many years ago that Major Duffy and Colonel Pope published the Progressive Farmer in this city, that publication later being moved to Raleigh. Major Duffy resided at the old Butner Hotel in Salem and Mr. James Duffy proudly refers to the fact that it was in that building that he first saw the light of day. He notes with interest the activity of the Wachovia Historical Society in marking the points of historical interest in the city, and was especially interested in the marker at the old hotel. Following the removal of the Progressive Farmer to Raleigh Major Duffy was a member of the Sentinel staff for some time."

BUYS VALUABLE PROPERTY.

Mr. E. A. Hawes Purchases Northeast Corner Seventh and Castle.

That valuable property on northeast corner of Seventh and Castle streets, known as the Walton estate, was purchased yesterday by Mr. E. A. Hawes, of Atkinson, N. C., who acquired it as an investment, Mr. Hawes having during the past several years made a number of investments in improved Wilmington real estate. The lot has upon it a store and dwelling and it fronts 53 feet on Castle and 100 feet on Seventh street. It is stated that the consideration was in the neighborhood of $5,000.

The sale to Mr. Hawes was through the real estate agency of Messrs. D. R. Foster & Co.

TO HAVE QUICK TRIAL ON CHARGE OF MURDER

William Fillmore, Alias Henry Brown, Arraigned in Court.

Judge Peebles Orders Special Venire of Seventy Men—Tebo Holly Convicted of Larceny—No Court Today.

William Fillmore, alias Henry Brown, the negro who shot and killed his wife at his home in Wilmington on Tuesday night, was arraigned in Superior Court yesterday following the returning of a true bill by the grand jury, and Judge Peebles set the trial for tomorrow, ordering the drawing of a special venire of 70 men from which to select the jury. The negro gave himself up to the police Wednesday night and was committed to jail without bond.

Only one case was tried in Superior Court yesterday, this being that of Tebo Holly, the 15-year-old colored boy, charged with entering the home of Mr. A. P. Southerland at McComber's station on the suburban line of the Tidewater Power Company, about eight miles east of Wilmington. The jury after having been out all the afternoon on the case returned a verdict late yesterday afternoon finding the youth guilty of larceny, but recommending mercy.

The grand jury returned a true bill for first degree burglary and the negro was arraigned in court Wednesday morning and a special venier of 50 men summoned from which to select a jury. Solicitor Lyon announced in court yesterday that he would not ask for a conviction in the first degree and after hearing the evidence, Judge Peebles charged the jury that the boy could only be guilty of larceny, if guilty at all.

Judge Peebles appointed Herbert McClammy and Emmett Bellamy, Esqs., as attorneys to represent William Fillmore, who stated that he would be unable to employ an attorney. The negro did not appear to be greatly disturbed when brought in court yesterday to be arraigned on a charge of murder. His answer to the court was "not guilty."

SPECIAL PICTURES AT ROYAL EACH SATURDAY.

New Feature Has Endorsement of Mothers and Educational Authorities

The Royal theatre management makes the important announcement in today's Star that, responding to many requests from school authorities and many mothers of the city, they will inaugurate tomorrow morning a special Saturday morning children's performance, to be given each Saturday morning, the same as have been very successful in some of the larger cities.

For the children's Saturday performances, special subjects will be booked solely for this one show, and will include only those of a clean, entertaining and inspiring nature, with two or more reels of educational pictures every Saturday. Prof. John J. Blair, superintendent of city schools, is cooperating with the management of the theatre in choosing the subjects for these performances, and every feature booked is first referred to Mr. Blair for approval.

The question of the moving picture theatre and its moral influence upon the child has long been a point at issue. Philanthropists and social workers have struggled with the problem in vain, and only in a few communities and cities throughout the country has there been any attempt to set aside a couple of hours during the week when a programme suited to children might be exhibited.

Then there was the question of providing the kind of programme that children like. It has been discovered thereby that the American child at least is not going to be "bull-dozed" into seeing nothing but the purely educational film. It has been learned that they adore Charlie Chaplin and others, none of whom can be relied upon at all times to do the proper thing; and it has therefore been found necessary to sprinkle the children's programme with a goodly amount of good clean human interest plots, harmless tales of adventure, etc.

Atlanta, Birmingham and Jacksonville are among the Southern cities in which these children's performances have been inaugurated and are proving successful through the co-operation of the educational leaders and parents who are aiding in advertising the shows to the point where it has not proven altogether a losing proposition for the theatres.

The organizations of mothers and the educational leaders have for some time been endeavoring to formulate plans for the children's performances, and the management of the Royal now announces that they will be given each Saturday morning at 9:30, the show lasting for an hour.

COFFER DAMS ARE PUMPED OUT AT BROWN'S LANDING

First Step in Construction of Locks and Dam is Highly Successful.

Capt. C. S. Ridley, United States District Engineer, stated yesterday that the water in the big coffer dams at Browns' Landing, which were constructed as the initial step in the building of the locks and dam at that point for the canalization project of the upper Cape Fear, had been pumped out successfully and he expressed much pleasure that this feature of the work had been carried out with such dispatch and without any serious delay.

The construction of the coffer dams is the most difficult part of the construction work and getting the water out is the test of the substantial character of the work that is being done under the supervision of Captain Mathewson, who succeeded Captain Ridley in charge of this important project.

SCHOONER IN DISTRESS

Coast Guard Cutter Seminole Will Bring John N. Penrose Here.

In response to a report from the steamer Somerset that the three-masted schooner John N. CARRIES CARGO OF COTTON

Norwegian Steamship Otterstad Sails for Havre With 11,010 Bales.

With the first cargo of cotton to be shipped abroad from this port for several months, the Norwegian steamship Otterstad yesterday cleared and sailed for Havre, France. She carried 11,010 bales valued at $825,000, the cargo being loaded at the Champion Compress and consigned by the exporting firm of Alexander Sprunt & Son. The Otterstad is a ship of 1,672 gross tons and is in command of Captain Morland. She arrived in port Friday of last week, having sailed light from Shields, England, March 7 and touching at Kirkwall March 9.

Two other foreign steamships are due to arrive here some time soon. The Freja, a Danish vessel, sailed for this port from Marseilles March 5, and the British steamer Kingfield from Genoa February 29.

The Clyde liner Chippewa, which arrived from New York Wednesday evening, sailed late yesterday for Georgetown on her regular trip. She is due to sail from this port Saturday on the return trip north. The regular northbound sailing of the Chippewa from Georgetown and Wilmington on her last voyage was cancelled because of the congested condition at the Clyde Line wharves at New York. She sailed from Charleston with a cargo for Boston.

BIBLE LECTURE TONIGHT

Prof. Hatch Discussed Mexico Last Night at Sixth Street Church.

Prof. A. E. Hatch, of Leon, a well known Bible lecturer, last evening discussed Mexico at the Sixth Street Advent Christian church. He declared that 1914 was the prophetic year that was to see the beginnjng of the great war, the war which was to break the nations in pieces.

"With the rise of Francisco Villa in that year," he said, "we see the beginning of the spirit of Anarchy, which is to become world-wide, and is to overthrow the nations."

Tonight he will speak on the subject of "Our Near Hope." The lecture begins at 7:45 o'clock and the public is invited.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a Glass of Salts Before Breakfast if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

—Prof. George L. Johnson, a well known Wilmington musician, has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., where on Sunday he will preside at a $25,000 organ, which has just been installed in the new First Church of the Christian Scientists in that city. The organ is one of the most costly in the country. It is not improbable that Prof. Johnson will be retained permanently as he was highly recommended by the builder of the instrument.

PLAN TO ENLARGE GOLF LINKS OF COUNTRY CLUB

Options Secured For Land To Make An 18-Hole Course

Special Meeting of Cape Fear Country Club Tonight to Consider Means of Financing Proposition. Advantages.

The committee recently appointed to make investigations relative to securing an 18-hole golf course for the Cape Fear Country Club has secured attractive options on several available tracts of land adjoining the present links on the south and at a special meeting of the members of the club to be held this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the club house, a report will be submitted and acted upon. The committee will also present to the members a plan for financing the purchase.

The need for an 18-hole golf course has been felt by the club for some time, not only because of the greater attraction it would lend to this ancient of sports, but also because of the rapidly increasing membership which now makes a large course practically imperative. The present course covers an area of about 50 acres of land and the proposed purchase would increase the holdings of the club to about 100 acres.

It has been the history of nearly all golf clubs starting out with a nine-hole course that when increasing membership made the need of a larger course necessary, it was found that the neighborhood growth had increased the value of adjacent land to such a point as to necessitate the purchase of land at a distant point and at great expense.

The rapidly increasing membership of the Country Club shows the need of preparing for the near future while suitable land can be acquired at a reasonable price. The present property of the club is nearly all included in the golf links, leaving but little land for other purposes.

With additional land, however, such as is now proposed, a part could be used for walks and summer houses and the ground beautified for the benefit of such members as do not play golf but seek the other attractions, offered by the club.

The present location is a very desirable one. The facilities for reaching the grounds are exceptionally good and being only a short distance from the city a minimum of time is consumed in traveling to and from the city. A country club is today regarded as a permanent institution in almost every city of any size for no other form of outdoor recreation grows more steadily in public favor than the game of golf with its wholesome environment.

The climate of this section is peculiarly favorable to golf, permitting playing all the year round, an advantage possessed by no other locality to so great a degree north of Florida. One of the developments in the eastern section of the city that promises great possibilities is that of building winter homes for people from the North, who seek a warmer climate during the colder season of the year, and the building of a first-class golf course would offer a splendid attraction for them.

The Raleigh Country Club only recently added a nine-hole course to their grounds and now have a modern 18-hole golf course. Charlotte and Asheville also have well equipped 18-hole golf courses. With an 18-hole course the Wilmington club would not only have links equal to them but superior in many respects.

The present golf course of nine holes embraces a flat section, while the additional land that it is proposed to purchase is rolling which would give a variety of play not obtainable in other cities in the State.

It is expected that the meeting of the club tonight will be largely attended. The suburban car leaves Front and Princess streets at 8:10 o'clock.

METROPOLITAN FORCES MEET

Triennial Convention of Insurance Representatives in Raleigh.

Superintendent Phillip H. Mason, of the Wilmington district, Agent D. M. Bornemann and one or two other representatives of the local offices are in Raleigh in attendance upon the triennial convention of the field representatives of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company from North and South Carolina.

The convention is quite a large one and it met on Wednesday night, the opening event being a banquet at the Yarborough Hotel. There are in attendance a number of the executives of the company, including several of the vice presidents, the medical director, superintendent of agencies and supervisors. The purpose of the convention is to discuss some of the plans the company is working out for health conservation and education, the Metropolitan having long ago taken advanced steps along these important lines.

Mr. Mason and Mr. Bornemann expect to return to the city today.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Mr. Lehmand Wood has decorated a beautiful Easter wincow for Peterson & Rulfs and like all of his work it is artistic in its every feature. The color effects are particularly striking, being grey and white.

At a meeting of the North Carolina Sorosis yesterday afternoon, Mrs. E. M. Gregg, chairman of the Social Service committee, reported the gift of an emergency kit from the local Red Cross Society to be used by the Travelers' Aid Workers at the station. This gift is one which is deeply appreciated by the recipients, as many persons arrive at the station sick or in need of the sort of attention which the possession of the kit will enable the workers to give them. A prominent physician of the city has volunteered to show the Workers how to use the kit.

GETTING "CLEAN-UP" SPIRIT

Supt. Holton Taking Care of All Trash But Expected Sunshine May Require More Wagons.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather this week, Supt. James E. Holton, of the city sanitary department, said last night that the people have caught the spirit of clean-up week with a vengeance and that while he is very well taking care of the situation just now, a few days of sunshine will overhelm his present force which is working under high pressure and without a doubt extra carts and men will have to be employed.

In the central part of the city, he says he has the situation well in hand with the regular force; the same, he says, is true of the northern part of the city, but in the southern part of town, he says, the people have not only turned their attention to front and back yards and lots, but they are cleaning up all vacant premises and generally giving that section a general overhauling. Yesterday with his force of ten wagons, the department removed a total of 86 loads of trash. Every available man and team in the department has been commandeered for the two weeks and even with this, as the contagion for cleaning begins to spread there will be a call for more help.

Today and tomorrow Delgado and Carolina Place and Heights are on the schedule and it is certain that extra teams will be required to take care of those sections. Delgado especially has entered most heartily into the spirit of the movement and residents of that village are not only cleaning up, but they are laying walks, planting trees and contributing generally towards bringing the village close to a model. Superintendent Holton says that regardless of what the property owners may do, he hopes to have force sufficient to meet them more than half way in meeting fully the demands of this general clean-up period.

The Rotary Club, which is behind this big movement for community improvement, is keeping in the closest touch with the situation and has already heard the call of Superintendent Holton and now has up with the powers that be at the City Hall the matter of putting on extra teams. There is no doubt but the extra help will be authorized and added to the department in plenty of time.

And while the people are doing much now as to the general cleaning up, it is expected that the movement will continue to grow. Next Tuesday will be a holiday for the boys of the public schools, who will take a day off and make war against the common enemy—trash. People who have already cleaned up their own premises and have had their efforts nullified by the non-action of the next-door neighbor, are also expected to get out and do a little missionary work in order that all may be brought into the movement.

It is made plain that while next week is "paint-up time" more especially, it will not be out of place to begin now as many already have done. But those who do not begin this week are expected to make the brush fly by the coming Monday morning. It's Paint-Up and Clean-Up time, so get busy now!

PLEASED WITH OUTLOOK

Mr. S. H. Hobbs, of Clinton, is conducting a strenuous campaign in behalf of his candidacy for State Commissioner of Agriculture and stated last night that he had found evidences of strong support all over the State. He is an expert on rural credits, having served as chairman of the National legislative committee of the Farmers' Union and having for many years been identified with the State Farmers' Union. However, he has no official connection with these organizations at the present time, having resigned to make the race against Major William A. Graham.

He was in the city last night en route to Whiteville to attend the county commencement today.

Cottolene

"The Natural Shortening"

Foods cooked with Cottolene come to the table with their natural goodness improved with a better flavor.

Biscuits shortened with it delight by their taste, their lightness, their whiteness and their wholesomeness.

Pie crust shortened with Cottolene has that flaky goodness which perfects the whole pie.

All foods fried in it are better-tasting and digestible because Cottolene does not soak into them.

There is no substitute for Cottolene—nothing "just as good."

Try Cottolene—try it in your biscuits, for example, then in your other cooking. Arrange with your grocer for a regular supply. It is packed in pails of various sizes.

SPECIAL FUND FOR BOYS IS DONATED TO Y. M. C. A.

Young Men of A. C. L. Establish Membership Fund for Deserving Boys.

The people of the city are very much pleased with the generosity which prompted the establishment by the young men of the Atlantic Coast Line in this city of a special fund of approximately $200 to provide membership in the local Young Men's Christian Association for deserving boys of the community.

Secretary J. B. Huntington, of the Y. M. C. A., stated yesterday that the managment of the association deeply appreciates the kindness and thoughtfulness of the donors to the fund, and expressed the belief inasmuch as there are many deserving boys in the city, who for financial reasons cannot afford to pay for memberships for themselves, it will be the means of affording them the much needed recreation and exercises; and inspiration to higher ideals which should come to those who join the organization.

Largest Haberdashery Business in Wilmington

System in the Selling of Men's Wearing Apparel

The method by which any great business has grown to be the greatest of its kind is of general interest.

When you think of haberdashery, this is the logical store—the name of J. M. SOLKY & CO. unconsciously occurs to you.

Whether it be shirts, or scarfs, or collars, or pajamas, or underwear, you have come to know that this store offers what you want.

First, the exact tastes of Wilmington men have been systematically studied, in styles and materials. We have supplied the things logically demanded—and supplied them first.

Second, the glamor of high prices, formerly associated with fashionable and serviceable haberdashery, has been removed, and actual intrinsic value substituted in its place.

Not cheap things at cheap prices, but always the superior, smart goods, such as the extravagantly exclusive shops present, at very reasonable prices.

Third, as the volume of the business has increased, the size of the assortments has extended beyond that afforded by any other establishment in the city.

Add to this the convenience of location presented by our store, in central location, and you have the principal reasons for this growth.

THEATRICAL

Cleo Madison, star of a thousand and one great photoplays, star of the great "Trey O' Hearts" serial which won her world-wide fame, and has gone down as the greatest serial achievement of all time, has branched out into the feature class, and today presents at the Royal her first great photoplay feature in five reels, "A Soul Enslaved," a human interest emotional dramatic masterpicture that has no rivals and few equals in the whole realm of filmdom.

Beauty and talent, a rare combination to find in abundant quantities, run rampant through the whole five reels of "A Soul Enslaved". Cleo Madison, one of the prettiest of all leading women now on the screen, in the leading role, her most entrancing interpretation of an emotional role, furnishes both the beauty and the talent. Gifted with emotional talent far beyond the ordinary actress, she has an opportunity in "A Soul Enslaved" to rise to surprising heights of her art.

The story, depicting the life of a young girl born amid sordid surroundings, who early in life resolved to take the easiest way out or this life, the penalty she is forced to pay, and later of her rise from her lowly surroundings through her honest love for a man, provide Miss Madison with the greatest plot she has ever played in. It should be the greatest feature of the whole week, at the Royal today.

Henry Walthall Tomorrow.

A girl, blinded by ambition for the stage, leads a man to bare his love for her before jesting friends, to prove her dramatic ability. The victim is stung to the quick, but he is not the man to brook so cruel and heartless a jest. His has been the large, free life of the open, life lived in the raw.

He kidnaps the girl, takes her to a mountain lodge, chains her to the floor. He dominates over her, browbeats her. She hates him, but is awed by his overpowering mastery. His reckless daring, his brute force win her admiration, but pride will not let her yield. One day, goaded by his deliberate taunts, she fells him with a blow. The woman instinct is aroused and the mothering love for the helpless comes into play. The man child is hers to care for, and a great love is born.

Henry Walthall, hero of "The Birth of a Nation," and Edna Mayo, the most beautiful woman on the screen, make of this photoplay "The Misleading Lady," to be presented at the Royal tomorrow, one of fascinating intensity and overpowering strength.

"Girl and the Game" Today.

The 11th great chapter of "The Girl and the Game," at the Grand today is without a doubt the most absorbing chapter yet in this, the greatest railroad thriller ever filmed by anyone. There are only three more chapters after this week, and each chapter from now on marks a step in the direction of the grand finale, which, by the way, is the most unexpectedly thrilling ever seen in a motion picture serial.

Helen Holmes reaches new heights of dare-devilry in the 11th chapter of "The Girl and the Game." She has made narrow escapes from death, one of which is a good bit more real than the average spectator will imagine while witnessing the picture. There is no faking where Helen Holmes is concerned. If it can be done—why she does it herself; if it can't be done, it is simply cut out of the story, that's all. The 11th chapter should not be missed.

There will be two great comedy reels one of them a mammoth Keystone laugh on today's bill.

Tomorrow the Grand presents that greatest of all Keysone two-reel comedies, starring Charlie Chaplin, with Ambrose Walrus, and everyone of the great L-Ko howl-makers, entitled "His Prehistoric Past." It is a toss-up between Charlie, Ambrose and Walrus as to which one does the funniest stunts in this great two-reeler.

"The Iron Claw" Today.

More than 3,000 Wilmingtonians pronounced "The Iron Claw" which opened at the Bijou last Friday, as the greatest serial achievement of all time, the most thrillingly absorbing, the most natural in its plot, and the fullest of strong and superb dramatic acting of any serial by any film concern in the whole past history of motion pictures.

Pearl White and Sheldon Lewis have reached new heights of mystery and dramatic acting in "The Iron Claw". And with the second chapter to be presented today, there enters into the story for the first time that greatest of all young matinee idols of the screen, Creighton Hale, "so blithe, so gay, so debonnaire." Cast in the idle, foppish role of a secretary to Enoch Golden, it is the Creighton Hale known of old in the great "Exploits", but with a deeper, stronger role, and depicting at times sudden flashes of brightness that is surprising. "The Iron Claw" from now on will draw constantly increasing crowds for every Friday. It is only 12 weeks in all, but the crowds will be to the record breaking point long before it is finished.

There will be two big comedy reels in addition to "The Iron Claw."

TO INSPECT COAST GUARD MILITIA AND EQUIPMENT.

Lieut. Leonard L. Barrett, of War Department, Coming to Wilmington.

The War Department has rodered First Lieut. Leonard L. Barrett, of the Ordnance Department, to inspect the coast artillery equipment and militia in North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. He will first visit Forts Moultrie and Sumter in South Carolina and will then come to Wilmington and Fort Caswell. He will also visit Charlotte, Salisbury, Mendersonville, and Greensboro and will inspect the Coast Guard companies.

Members of the Wilmington Light Infantry, which is known officially as the Second Company of the Coast Artillery Corps of the North Carolina National Guard, will probably go to Charlotte to take part in the annual celebration on the 20th of May. It is proposed to have a mobilization of the North Carolina National Guard on that occasion and Adjutant General L. W. Young with a committee of officers is working out a programme for the occasion.

BUYS VALUABLE PROPERTY

Mr. O T Wallace Purchases Hanby Property at Second and Chestnut.

Mr. O. T. Wallace, a well known real estate broker, yesterday purchased from the American Bank and Trust Company the lot on the northwest corner of Second and Chestnut streets, formerly owned by the Bowden estate and later by the Hanby estate. The lot is 66 feet in width and extends back a distance of 165 feet. It is centrally located and well suited for business purposes. There is now located on the property a large frame residence but it is not improbable that this will be later removed.

Mr. O. T. Wallace purchased the property as an investment and stated last night that he has as yet made no plans for its future development. The property is well situated and being in the center of the city is considered quite valuable.

BALTIMORE STEAMER CUT OUT

Shippers Receive Formal Notice of Discontinuance of Service.

Post card notices of the discontinuance of operations from this port by the Baltimore & Carolina Steamship Company, signed by General Manager Mason L. Weems Williams, of Baltimore, were received yesterday by shippers as follows:

"Owing to the fact that we have been notified to vacate our present dock at Wilmington, N. C., and as we have not been able to secure other satisfactory docking facilities, we will be compelled effective April 5, 1915, to discontinue our service to that port for the present."

It will be recalled that the contemplated discontinuance of the sailings of the Baltimore steamer to and from this port was very generally discussed at a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce which protested vigorously against the proposal on the grounds that the line was now enjoying capacity freight cargoes and that the people of Wilmington were not only desirous of maintaining this connection with Baltimore, but of increasing their commercial relations with the Southern port.

It was also made clear that the present owners of the dock had not and did not contemplate for the immediate present calling upon the B. & C. S. S. people to vacate the property and that even in such an emergency, it was known that other docks could be secured. It was suggested at the time that tempting charters for the overseas trade might be at the bottom of the discontinuance and local shippers were surprised yesterday that General Manager Williams should insist upon the original assignment of reasons of the discontinuance in the light of what was brought out at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the time.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS

Number of Positions in Government Service to Be Filled Shortly.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces a number of examinations to be held at Wilmington and other cities in the district in the near future. Among them are the following:

MR. HOBE RETURNS.

Agent for Fruit Growers' Express Finds Berry Outlook Much Improved.

Mr. G. E. Hobe, who was the popular and efficient manager of the Fruit Growers' Express in the Wilmington section last season, has returned to the city to take charge of the movement of berries and truck to Northern markets this spring. He has just completed a tour of the strawberry area around Chadbourn and declares that the outlook is very encouraging. He expects the first cars to move about April 20th. The situation has greatly improved in the last week.

Mr. Hobe spent the winter at Grand Rapids, Mich., having charge of the fruit movement in that section in the fall. For the last two months he has been in Florida. He was accompanied to Wilmington by Mrs. Hobe. Their many friends here have given them a warm welcome.

WILMINGTON PRESBYTERY ADJOURNED YESTERDAY

Next Session Will be Held at White Plains Church in Wayne County.

The spring meeting of the Wilmington Presbytery came to a close yesterday afternoon, after having been in session for three days, at the Winter Park Presbyterian church. The visiting ministers and laymen attended the dedication of the Tabernacle for the Chapman-Alexander meetings last evening and will leave for their homes this morning.

The fall meeting of the Presbytery will be held at White Plains Presbyterian church in Wayne county. The session yesterday was taken up almost entirely with hearing reports of the work of the church which were most encouraging.

A feature of the session was an address by President W. J. Martin, of Davidson College.

DISCUSS INSPECTION LAW.

Dr. Nesbitt and Dr. Carroll Visited Ashton—At Scott's Hill last Night.

Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, county health officer, and Dr. John Thames, assistant county health officer, went to Scott's Hill last night to discuss with the farmers of that section the new Federal inspection law which goes into effect on May 15th.

On Wednesday night Dr. Nesbitt and Dr. T. B. Carroll, city meat and milk inspector, went to Ashton in Pender county and met a hundred or more farmers. The meeting was a very satisfactory one.

It is Dr. Nesbitt's purpose to secure experts from the Department of Agriculture to meet the farmers of adjoining counties in the near future to discuss the growing of livestock. He finds that the farmers are very much interested in the subject.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED.

Annual Meeting of New Hanover Association of A. & M. Alumni.

Mr. J. L. Becton, a well known civil engineer, was elected president of the New Hanover association of the alumni of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, of Raleigh, at the annual meeting which was held last evening at 8 o'clock in the office of Mr. H. E. Bonitz, No. 213 Princess street. Mr. George Gillett was elected secretary.

There was a large attendance and a number of important matters were taken up. There are quite a number of alumni of this institution living in Wilmington and many of them occupy prominent positions in the business and professional life of the city.

Business is good at Belk-Williams Co., and Mr. Williams has gone on his second trip this season for spring merchandise. (advertisement.)

Thin People Gained Weight Quickly

By Following This Simple Suggestion

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol — one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe, fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. All leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box.

Stop the Grippe when It's Still a Cold

Grippe, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, all start from common colds. Head them off by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound.

"A dose in time will save nine." A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound taken when you feel a cold coming on will save you a world of annoyance and possible distress.

Dry hacking coughs must never be neglected. They irritate the throat and chest terribly. The use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will have a loosening soothing effect, relieving irritation and permitting sleep.

Here's a typical instance of the relief and help that comes through the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound:

"My little girl had a severe cold a short time ago," says Mrs. D. Gilkeson, of Youngstown, O., "and coughed almost continuously. I tried lots of cough remedies and had the doctor treat her, but she did not get any better. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to me and I decided to get some for my child. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one fifty cent bottle the cough left her and her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since that time I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house in case of emergency, as I know it is a sure cure for coughs and colds. It was the means of saving my little girl and I recommended it highly."

CREATES STRENGTH FOR FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Aged War Veteran Finds Health in Vinol

Steubenville, Ohio—"I am 77 years old, and for 35 years have worked on the P. C. & St. L. R. R. Also a Civil War veteran. I suffered from a general nervous breakdown and would have such weak, dizzy spells I would have to go to bed for a day at a time. When visiting friends in Bradford, Ohio, an old doctor recommended that I try Vinol. That very day I bought a bottle and continued to take it regularly. It has done me a world of good, built me up so I feel stronger in every way, and have gone back to work again and I want to recommend Vinol to any old comrade or aged person who needs strength for it is a grand medicine."—W. H. BOWERS, Steubenville, Ohio.

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace declining strength with renewed vigor, viz.: the medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, peptonate of iron, beef peptone and a mild tonic wine.

A Gray Frock of Taffeta and Chiffon with the New Corded Basque

April Smiles on Easter BRIDES

by Hester Winthrop

A Going Away Costume of Checked and Plain Taffeta

The New Blazer Coat will Serve the Bride as a Traveling Wrap and Later as a Sport Coat

White Satin is Pleated Over Net Lace in this Graceful Wedding Gown

Wedding Gowns Afoam With Lace -- Fawn Or Gray for the Going-Away Gown -- A Smart Traveling Coat the First Consideration -- Hats.

IF "three removes are as good as a fire," a trousseau is certainly equal to "three removes." What a blissful state is the bride's, all the has-beens of the wardrobe discarded, thrown away or given away, and life begun again with an entirely new outfit of clothes from hats to boots—to say nothing of trunks and boxes packed with hundreds of delightful pretty things, frocks, petticoats, negligees and lovely lingerie! Only once in a lifetime—unless there happens the suppositional fire—does this felicitous condition occur.

The Easter bride this year is specially lucky for never were women's clothes so alluring, so daintily feminine, so altogether fetching as they are now. If one has a natural leaning toward furbelows it may be indulged to the utmost, for furbelows are at the height of fashion; if one's leaning is toward simple, tailored things this inclination may be indulged also in the line of sport raiment, the frilly, furbelowed frocks and wraps being provided only for wear when occasion demands.

Paris Decrees Length in the Wedding Gown.

There is a tendency toward longer skirts in Paris now and the first skirt to be lengthened is the skirt of the wedding gown. Several brides this winter wore frivolously short skirts, because short skirts were so universal that a long one gave the silhouette a grotesque suggestion; and in the face of consistency the long train swept downward to the floor at the back while the short skirt showed the feet and ankles in front. This was not graceful, but it was smart—and what would you? The Easter wedding gown, however, will fall to the tip of the satin slipper, merging into the folds of the train at the back and much stateliness and distinction will the costume gain thereby. The beautiful bridal gown pictured shows this new length and also the quantities of lace that are used to give wedding gowns the soft, airy suggestion so desirable now. Few bridal costumes these days are of satin used alone; almost invariably the bodice and sleeve and some portion of the skirt drapery are of lace; or even of tulle.

One of the loveliest wedding gowns of the Easter season is to be trimmed with tulle pleatings; three pleated tulle flounces down the front of the skirt; three narrower pleatings at the elbow of a full leg o' mutton tulle sleeve and the bodice of draped tulle crossed under bands of pearl trimming at the front. The train and back of the skirt are of white satin meteor and over the train falls a drapery of tulle, hanging from pearl ornaments at the back of the shoulders. The bridal veil is also of tulle and falls only to the waist at the back, over the long tulle train drapery in which it mingles.

The pictured wedding gown which has been selected after some consideration as authoritatively typical of the best mode for Easter bridals this year, is of ivory white satin draped over lace. The lace bodice and long, shirred lace sleeves are draped over white chiffon and the bodice is very simple in style, surplice fronts edged with a line of pearl bead trimming being crossed in a modest V. The skirt is the elaborate and compelling feature of this gown. The rich satin is corded at the foot and faced with a light hairlace, to give the proper flare without rigid stiffness, and at the waistline the satin is laid in soft, heavy pleats. A width of the satin starting at the center front is pleated across to the right hip, then the satin is brought up in a long loop and the other end pleated from the hip to the center back, making a graceful drapery at the right side of the skirt. The entire left side of the skirt is of lace, also pleated into the waistband. A straight belt of satin holds in the fulled lace of the bodice, crosses at the back and comes forward to the front of the skirt, below the waistline, to confine the pleats of the skirt.

Veils Worn Off the Face.

The blushing bride no longer veils her blushes, but wears her veil as far back on her head as possible to show her beautifully arranged coiffure. If she must cover her face, a small veil of tulle, falling just below the bust, is attached to the longer veil at the back and is removed the moment the wedding ceremony is over. The bride in the picture wears a wonderful veil of Irish carrick-macross; one point of the square being turned in and shirred for attaching at the back of the head where the hair is arranged low on the crown. The bandeau of orange blossoms helps to keep the veil in place and prevents the weight of the very eyebrows, is thrust back, under the drapery of the sides and pinned fast to the hair.

Silk for the Going-Away Gown.

It is a bride entirely lacking in vanity who does not expend special thought on her going-away costume. Usually a rather elaborate tailleur is selected and a very dainty one is pictured on today's page. The little suit fairly riots in scallops and every scallop on the skirt and tunic (of fawn and chocolate in infinitesimal checks) is piped with chocolate taffeta. The taffeta coat in plain color has flaring cuffs which repeat the scallop effect of the skirt. These cuffs are made of squares of the taffeta lined with haircloth and faced with another taffeta square. There is an oval opening at the center of the square and the oval is attached to the sleeve with a cording. The high-brimmed black milan sailor is trimmed with bows of chocolate brown picot ribbon.

For formal wear the bride-to-be will have at least one gray frock this spring and a charming gray costume is pictured on the seated figure. The frock is built of dove gray chiffon and taffeta in the same shade; the tight-fitting bodice having many corded seams at the back, opening in front to show an underbodice of the chiffon drawn up on cords. The slashed chiffon sleeve is trimmed, like the skirt, with frills of gray taffeta pinked at the edge. With this exquisite frock goes a turban of rose-colored lisere straw trimmed with dull green leaves and American Beauty roses.

For summer afternoons is a frock of white embroidered net with gathered, ruffled tunic above a wide skirt trimmed with pleatings of white ribbon that give the filmy skirt flare and substance. The bodice approximates a fitted effect, the embroidered net being draped over white chiffon and the chiffon over a fitted underbodice of white silk. The waistline is defined by a straight belt of the net which joins bodice and skirt. Three little pink roses at the shoulder echo the note of pink in the rose trimmed leghorn hat with its drooping frill of white tulle. A nattier blue ribbon around the crown is tied in a soft bow at one side, weighting the supple leghorn brim.

Coats and Hats for the Bride.

A smart traveling coat is pictured in the blazer model of striped flannel—black and white, with white trimmings. The sport hat is also black and white to match. The bride will need at least six hats, including traveling sailor or turban, wide-brimmed leghorn, two dressy, flower-trimmed affairs and two smart sport hats.

An Enchanting Trousseau Frock of White Net

lace from dragging the hair down.

Still another bride of the late season backed her jetty tresses with a veil that gave the effect of a flaring Spanish comb rising above the crown of the head. A close pleating of tulle spread out above a long, curved pin of pearls placed in the hair and below the pin, the veil was closely drawn together so that thumb and finger could have encircled the filmy folds. Lower, it spread out over the train in conventional fashion. Still another way to arrange the veil is in the Watteau effect. This is pretty and becoming—more becoming than the veil entirely off the face. A lace veil is thrown over the head, the lace edge shading the forehead and falling at either side of the face to the waistline. Then a wired wreath of orange blossoms, with a cluster of the blossoms at one side is fitted over the top of the head, and the veil, as a small Watteau hat would be fitted on the head, tilting toward the front. With this veil arrangement the hair is worn low—in a loose knot at the back of the neck. The Moorish arrangement is odd but "different," which pleases the bride who likes to be sensational. A lace veil is thrown over the head with corners hanging at either side of the shoulders; then the front of the veil, drawn to the

Household Linens for the Bride

EVEN more fascinating than the selection of the trousseau is the supplying of beautiful linens for the bride's new home. Frocks, hats and exquisite lingerie will have but a brief existence—a year's grace at most may be granted most of the lovely new wearables which are chosen with such care; but the bride's house linens will be a joy to her for many years.

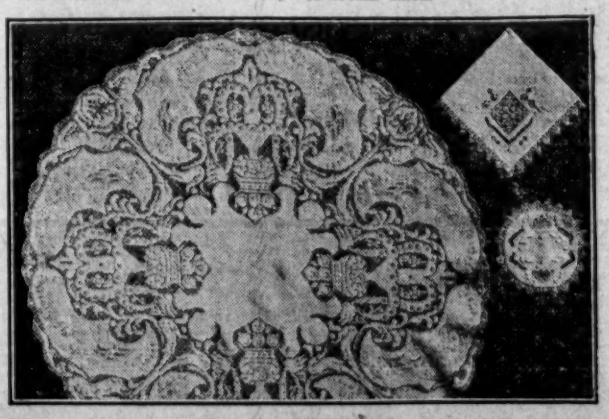
The bed linens for everyday use may be of fine quality muslin with hemstitched hems. Some housekeepers have hemstitched undersheets and scalloped upper sheets, but this entails more or less extra attention and trouble when the linens are sorted after laundering. Pillow-slips may be hemstitched or scalloped and should be embroidered with the bride's initial or monogram. There is no deviation from the rule that the bride's initials and not the groom's must mark all the house linens for the new home. See to it that the sheets are plenty long—three yards is none too long. This allows twelve inches to turn under at the foot of the bed, and twenty-four inches to turn back over the blanket at the top.

For the guest room have several sets of linen sheets and pillow-slips, hand scalloped rather than hemstitched and beautifully marked with initials or monograms. There must be a generous supply of bedspreads and for the simply furnished home the washable spreads with border design are excellent. Some housewives cling to the old-fashioned heavy Marseilles spreads and these are really very attractive, though modern, elaborately dressed beds have put them a little out of style. If the bed has a smart cretonne cover, lay it over a spotless white washable bedspread so that when the cover is removed at night there may be something over the blankets. Uncovered blankets, no matter how handsome they may be, always have an "undressed" look on the bed. The bride-to-be who is clever at needlework may make for herself a very handsome bedspread of cream scrim inset with hand-crocheted filet border and medallions. A set of this sort, including bedspread, bolster spread, curtains for two windows and covers for dresser, table and chiffoniere, was made during leisure hours last summer. The bedspread and dresser covers have been laid over pink sateen matching a pink wallpaper. On the lace-covered table stands a pink silk shaded boudoir lamp. The whole effect is rich and beautiful, yet the curtains and spreads cost but a trifle in actual money.

For the bathroom linen closet there should be two dozen linen damask towels, pure white, with hemstitched or scalloped ends and hand-embroidered initials. Have all the towels alike and get them as large as possible. Guest towels to match the larger ones should be provided also. Bath towels and washcloths to match may show a touch of color and the embroidered initials will match this color.

It is in her dining room linens, quite naturally, that the bride takes most interest. A great many of these will doubtless come as wedding-gifts, but the bride, herself, must supply a goodly store for her new home. In addition to tablecloths of various lengths and weights for everyday and special use and hand-hemmed and initialed napkins in breakfast, lunch and dinner sizes; there must be luncheon cloths, tea cloths, tray cloths, sideboard runners, centerpieces, doilies and small serviettes or tea napkins. Plain, heavy white damask, hemstitched or scalloped and beautifully initialed is always in excellent taste and the housekeeper who wishes to be most distinguished uses little color in dining room linens.

Hand filet and cut work with linen center makes a very handsome lunch cloth. Another attractive afternoon teacloth with small tea napkins to match shows little filet medallions set in with buttonholing, the linen then being cut away back of the medallion. There are two lines of hemstitching, one holding the half-inch hem the other set several inches above to make the border design. Point de Venise table centers with doilies to match are very handsome for the formal luncheon. Point de Paris is an effective lace for edging a lunch cloth of cream linen.



A lunch cloth of hand-made filet and cut-work, with lunch doily and serviette to match.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

COTTON STRONG AND ACTIVE

July Jumps From 11.96 to a Close of 12.09—Spot Quoted at 12.65—Gain of 7 to 15 Points.

New York, April 6.—The cotton market showed increased activity and strength today with July selling up from 11.96 to 12.11 and closing at 12.09, while the general list closed firm at a net gain of 7 to 15 points.

There was some irregularity during the early trading. Cables are lower than due and after starting at a decline of one point to an advance of three points, prices here eased off 2 or 3 points. The market soon turned firmer under buying of May and July and of a good spot demand in the south and the demand became rather more active as prices worked higher. New crop deliveries led the advance the general list sold about 10 to 15 points above last night's close during the late trading. This carried May up to 11.93 while October sold at 12.28 and December at 12.44. The close was within a point or two of the best. The late advance was encouraged by firmness in New Orleans, attributed partl yto spinners' calling. A private report issued before the opening indicate a canvass of Southern correspondents as of March 25 has suggested an increase of 8.6 per cent. in acreage.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Short Covering on Small Market Causes Wide Advance.

New Orleans, April 6.—Short covering on a small market caused one of the widest advances in recent sessions in the cotton market here today. At the best the trading months were 10 to 15 points over yesterday's close. The close was 11 to 13 points up. Continued firmness of spots and refusal of the market to respond to bearish market literature extensive circulated during the last few days, were back of the rise. Buying for long account appeared of moderate proportions, although there was gossip that certain itnerests were quietly picking up new crop contracts.

In the early trading the market was held down by poor cables and rains in the western belt but at the lowest the most active months were only one point under yesterday's close. The demand from shorts increased as the day grew older and offerings at all times were scanty. A sudden bulge in Liverpool during the morning helped local futures to some extent, but teh market showed most strength late in the day.

SPECULATION IS FEATURE

Half Dozen Special Issues in Stocks Supply From One-Fourth to One-Third of Day's Business.

New York, April 6.—The stock market today was obviously speculation, half dozen special issues, notably Mercantile Marine, Crucible Steel, Mexican Petroleum, International Nickel, United States Industrial Alcohol and American Zinc, more or less in the order named, supplying from one-fourth to one-third of the day's total business.

Marines were helped by recent negotiations suggesting a better understanding between opposing interests, and Petroleums made natural responses to favorable trade conditions. Alcohol's extreme rise of 4 3-8 to the new record of 170 1-2 and zinc's gain of 2 5-8 to the new maximum of 92 1-4 were attributed to a drive against short interests, the same probably applying to Crucible's rise, much of which was later forfeited.

United Fruit and Pacific mail kept moderate pace with marines while American and Baldwin, Locomotives and New York Air Brakes represented the stocks of the munitions group in less active fashion. Motors and other equipments as well as United States Smelting, recently listed were variably higher. General motors was the exception falling 25 points on a single sale to 460. Rails were inconspicuous with no material changes. United States Steel was only fair active and reflected further pressure. Coppers, Greene-Cananea excepted, were dull and uncertain American Linseed, preferred, featured the industrials with a gain of minor proportions. Total sales 530,000 shares.

Francs weakened to 599 1-4 with cables at 5.98 1-2. Other foreign remittances were firm.

Bonds were steady, Canadian 5s, of 1913, being especially active and strong. Total sales par value $4,545,000. United State sbonds unchanged on call.

CONFERENCE ON DEPOT MATTERS AT RALEIGH

A. C. L. and Norfolk Southern Officials See Commission

Attorney General Makes Ruling as to Primary—Warrants for School Funds Mailed Out—To Investigate Hospital.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 6.—General Superintendent W. H. Newell, of the Atlantic Coast Line, General Counsel W. C. Rodman and J. D. Stack, of the Norfolk Southern Railway, were in conference with the Corporation Commission today regarding a number of union and way station depot matters that are pending in which both the railway corporations are interested. All parties to the conference said that there was a general elimination of little kinks in pending depot improvements, the details of which they declined to go into.

The Norfolk Southern officials are here in company with Chairman Marsden J. Perry, of the board of directors, and President Joseph H. Young, who are on an annual tour of inspection of the lines. They traveled over the Norfolk-Raleigh division yesterday and left today on an inspection of the Raleigh-Charlotte section. They express themselves as well pleased with the evidences of progress and marked advancement that they are finding all along the system.

There were mailed out today to the public school authorities of 96 of the 100 counties of the State warrants on the State Treasury for their proportion of the State fund for equalizing the public school terms of the counties where the terms provided by the county funds do not bring the terms up to the minimum 100 days' term. The four counties which do not share in this fund because their school terms from local funds are more than the 100-days' minimum are New Hanover, Durham, Forsyth and Halifax. The fund distributed by the State in this connection is $447,940, an increase of about $30,000 over that distributed last year. Wake county gets the biggest apportionment, this being $12,397.

Bickett's Ruling as to Primary.

Fully sustaining the ruling of the State Board of Elections made some days ago, Attorney General Bickett has rendered an opinion for the State Board of Elections to the effect that there must be provision made for the people of the State to vote for president and vice president and that the board must provide ballots for Republican and Democratic parties that have blank spaces left in which the names of the choice of the voter for president and vice president can be inserted.

In view of the recent charges made by C. E. Latta and other former patients and in deference to the wishes of Superintendent Albert Anderson, Governor Craig and Chairman Alexander Webb, of the State Board of Internal Improvements, the directors of the Central Hospital for the Insane here will hold a special session for a general investigation of the institution, beginning May 11. The board is in annual session here and reached this conclusion after hearing statements by Dr. Anderson, Governor Craig, Chairman Webb, Mr. Latta and others.

Mr. Latta charges mistreatment of patients by attendants, uncleanly conditions in the kitchen and other departments of the hospital. Chairman Webb, and Mrs. Price, of the State Board of Internal Improvements, intimated that there was undue difference in the dining room service accorded to the attendants and employes of the hospital as compared with that provided for the patients.

The board of directors has re-elected old officers with the exception of R. C. Norris, steward, who resigned and is succeeded by J. H. Gosney, of Raleigh.

Reward for Murderer's Arrest.

A reward of $100 by the State was offered today by Governor Craig for the arrest of the unknown murderer of J. W. Brady at Greensboro, March 16. There are similar rewards offered by the county and the city authorities. No clue whatever has yet been discovered.

A charter is issued for the W. F. Suggs Company, of Albemarle, Stanly county, for a general mercantile business. The incorporators are E. F. Suggs, E. E. Suggs and others, who subscribe to $2,500 of the $10,000 capital authorized.

Another charter is for the Consolidated Veneer and Panel Company, of High Point, capital $10,000 subscribed and $100,000 authorized, the incorporators being R. R. Ragan, J. W. Clinard, Thomas McKinzie and others.

STATE SOCIETY TO MEET.

Annual Convention of Society of Cincinnati to be Held in Charlotte.

Mayor P. Q. Moore and Capt. Haywood Clark, of this city, are among the members of the State Society of Cincinnati, who have signified their intention of attending the annual convention of the order to be held in Charlotte on April 15th. Mr. Wilson G. Lamb, of Williamston, is president and Mr. Marshall Delancey Haywood, of Raleigh, is secretary. Col. Benehan Cameron, of Stagville, is assistant secretary.

NEGRO IS IDENTIFIED

By Little Brother and Sister of White Girl He Attacked.

Richmond, Va., April 6.—John Williams, the negro held here charged with having committed a capital offense on a white girl of Nottoway county was easily identified here today by the young woman's little brother and sister who was with her when the negro stopped them in the woods as they were going to school. The negro will be taken to Nottaway for trial April 20.

INSTRUCTED FOR FAIRBANKS

Indiana Republicans Elect Delegates for Chicago Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 6.—The Indiana Republican convention today instructed the state's 26 delegates to the national convention to work for the nomination of Charles W. Fairbanks for president. The platform adopted criticised the administration's foreign and Mexican policies and pledges the party to work for a programme of preparedness and a protective tariff.

J. B. HOCKADAY NOW ON BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Southern Express Co. Honors District General Managers.

Mr. Hockaday Formerly Had Headquarters in Wilmington, as Route Agent—He Began in Fayetteville.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Atlanta, Ga., April 6.—Announcement was received in Atlanta tonight that J. B. Hockaday, of this city, general manager of the Southern Express Company, and W. S. McFarland, general manager of the Southern Express company with headquarters in Birmingham, Ala., had been elected to the board of directors of that company.

Following the dispatch of several days ago that the Adams Express Company had bought the controlling interest in the Southern Express Company, but that there would be no change in the management of the Southern Express Company, this announcement is received with much interest.

The Southern Express Company, in placing on its board of directors two of the most experienced express men in the South, each of whom has been connected with it for over forty years, has taken this means of bringing its business in closer contact with its patrons throughout the Southern states.

Formerly in Wilmington.

Mr. Hockaday began his career with the Southern Express Company as an office boy at Fayetteville, N. C., afterwards running as a messenger in the express service. Later on, he was a clerk in the express office at Raleigh, N. C., then Greensboro, N. C., and Columbia, S. C., from which position he was promoted to cashiership at Charleston, S. C. Later he was named route agent, with headquarters at Wilmington, N. C., and then made assistant superintendent with headquarters at Washington, D. C. He was named superintendent of the Florida division, with headquarters at Savannah, Ga., and shortly thereafter became general superintendent, with headquarters at Savannah.

Upon the election of General Manager T. W. Leary to the presidency of the Southern Express Company, Mr. Hockaday was named general manager and established headquarters in Atlanta.

Mr. McFarland began his connection with the Southern Express Company as a clerk in the Birmingham office, later being named agent at Pensacola, Fla., and shortly thereafter route agent with headquarters at Mobile.

He was promoted to the superintendency of the Central division, with headquarters at Chattanooga, and later on, was named general superintendent, at which time he removed his headquarters to Birmingham, Ala.

A short while ago, Mr. McFarland was elected general manager with headquarters at Birmingham.

RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL IS NOT CHANGED

Lever, attempted unsuccessfully to increase the Charleston appropriation to $175,000 as a national defense proposition. He declared deepening of the river at Charleston was necessary to allow battleships to reach the navy yard, and read a letter from Rear Admiral Benson, chief of operations, in which the admiral said he believed there should be a first-class navy yard south of Hatteras and that Charleston was "the only one that fills that condition at present."

ALL NORTH CAROLINA PROJECTS ARE ADOPTED BY THE HOUSE

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., April 6.—The House today adopted every North Carolina project in the River and Harbor bill, including $1,000,000 for the continuation of the work on the inland waterway from Norfolk to Beaufort. When the work is completed it will make a continuous inland route from Norfolk to Albemarle Sound. Today's appropriations makes a total of $2,800,000 which the government has appropriated for the Norfolk-to-Beaufort route and assures the completion of the work.

Congressman Small, of North Carolina, a member of the committee, deserves a great deal of credit for the good showing the State has made in this bill. There was a strong fight against the Inland Waterway appropriation and only by hard and constant pulling did the First district congressman succeed in carrying his point.

All of the appropriations originally recommended by the chief of engineers for the upper and lower Cape Fear projects are, of course, carried in today's bill, as passed by the House.

FORTIFICATION BILL BEFORE THE HOUSE

ment; and to deny to an enemy the use of certain harbors not now protected.

Additional Armament Proposed.

"The total additional armament for continental United States included in the above projects comprises 25 16-inch guns, 24 12-inch guns mounted for long range fire, 23 six-inch and four three-inch guns, and 48 16-inch mortars; for the insular possessions, eight 12-inch guns mounted for long range fire, and for the Panama Canal, four 16-inch guns, four 12-inch guns mounted for long range fire, and 12 16-inch mortars.

"In addition to the above, the projects of the board include 134 three-inch anti-aircraft guns for the seacoast defenses of continental United States, 17 three-inch anti-aircraft guns for the insular possessions, and eight three-inch anti-aircraft guns for the Panama Canal.

"The board also recommends the construction of six 16-inch movable howitzers and an experimental 14-inch gun on railroad car mount for defense against hostile landings in unfortified harbors."

The present armament to which the above batteries will be added is described as follows:

"Guns now mounted or being mounted (after eliminating batteries declared obsolete by the War Department Board of Review): 16-inch, 1; 14-inch, 24; 12-inch, 111; 10-inch, 131; 8-inch, 49; 6-inch, 206; 5-inch, 52; 4.7-inch, 31; 4-inch, 4; 3-inch, 276; mortars, 408. Total 1,293.

"The mine defenses are elaborate and practically completed for all existing fortifications and provision will be made for mine defenses in connection with new fortifications as soon as the emplacement of guns makes such action desirable."

As to Reserve Ammunition.

As to reserve ammunition the report says:

"A review of the subject in the light of the European war caused the board to very greatly increase the amount of such reserve ammunition thought to be requisite, and it has submitted this year and estimate of $3,000,000, with a contract authorization of $3,500,000 to be expended toward securing a new reserve. The committee has allowed in it entirety the estimate submitted, making an appropriation in effect of $6,500,000 for this purpose, as against previous annual appropriation of $200,000."

In addition to the new guns, the bill provides for the expenditure of $750,000 to purchase the rights of the radio-dynamic torpedo control devised by John Hays Hammond, Jr. Acceptance is conditioned, however, on the report of a joint board of army and navy officers after a test for which the bill provides.

The report shows that four of the new 16-inch guns will be emplaced at Cape Henry, Va., two at Rockaway Beach, N. Y., others at San Francisco and San Pedro, Cal. Long range 12-inch guns will go to New York, Boston and either Portland, Me., or San Francisco.

The full estimates for the insular possessions were allowed by the committee as were the War Department's figures for additional mobile artillery including field guns. In addition the committee inserted an appropriation for $1,000,000 to provide tools and fixtures for commercial plants to equip them for the manufacture of government ammunition. It is provided, however, that the prices paid for rammunition or other material purchased shall not be more than 25 per cent in excess of the government's actual or estimated cost of manufacture.

sings: 'Hold the Fort, for I Am Coming'; evangelistic sings: 'Storm the Fort, for God is Leading.'

"This is the Christian's chief task; follow the voice of the Captain of our salvation; storm every stronghold of Satan and sin; rescue the lost and bring them to Jesus.

A Personal Task.

"There are some vital truths touching this living theme that I beg that we lay to heart tonight:

"First, soul-winning is a personal task.

"The world is not won in multitudes. Men are brought to Jesus as individuals. It has been observed that out of nearly 40 specific cases of healing recorded in the four Gospels, only six came of themselves; 20 were actually brought by others. The place and power of the individual effort for individuals has ever been recognized. It was the method of Jesus. Some of His most powerful discourses were reserved for individuals—Nicodemus, the woman of Samaria, and others. It was the method of His disciples. When Andrew found Jesus, he went out and found his brother Simon, and 'brought him to Jesus.' Philip found Nathaniel and brought him. Peter goes from Joppa to Caesarea to have a personal word with Cornelius. Philip, the evangelist, leaves a mighty revival in Samaria to go and join himself to an Ethiopian's chariot on the Gaza road and win him for Christ. Paul, the mighty preacher, turns aside from the multitude into the house of Lydia, the saleswoman, to instruct her in the way of righteousness.

"This is the method of the great evangelist. Mr. Moody once said that he hastened through his sermon that he might get to some individual. Dr. Theo. L. Cuyler said of the 3,000 souls added to his church membership: 'I have handled every stone.' John Vassar, the plain Baptist colporteur, was pleased to style himself 'God's shepherd dog after individual souls'. Mr. Spurgeon is said to have won an average of one soul a day for 40 years.

"The individual effort is the law of life. The doctor treats individual patients; the lawyer looks after individual clients; the merchant trades with individual customers; the politician solicits individual voters. The world has found the secret—the power of personal contact. A great wholesale merchant says that 80 per cent of the goods sold today are sold through traveling salesmen—'special agents'. The personal worker is a 'special agent' in the Kingdom of God, he is God's secret service agent. The politician knows the power of the 'buttonhole' method. Mark the contrast between a politician after a vote, and a Christian after a soul.

"The candidate (and let us fancy him a church man) starts after a vote, and he goes to the humblest, dirtiest hut; but he forgets all his social lines—he enters homes now, eagerly, where he would have considered it an insult, had you asked him to have gone to do church work. The wife comes to the door, he politely asks for the husband, and is told to come in; he shakes hands with the wife—nearly pulls the hand of the voter off—he talks about the bird as the prettiest bird he ever saw; the faded geraniums in the pot are the finest flowers he has seen yet; the pictures of her people and his people are very interesting to him. If they have chickens, he goes out to see them; if they have a cow, he likes a look at her; if they have a dog he pats the dog; if they have a baby (and they have) he kisses the baby, dirty as it is; he is after a vote, and he is after it in a way to get it. On election day, he doesn't think of letting that able-bodied man walk two blocks to vote, he sends a carriage or a motor car after him, he wants his vote and he gets it. How about the church man? Well, he is after his soul, he never goes to his home, don't know his wife; never speaks to him about his soul; never invites him to church; just throws open the door and rings the bell, if the church has one, and expects him to come, and he doesn't do it. The man says: 'When they wanted my vote, they knew me, and came after it; but when they wanted my soul, they didn't know me—it is a fraud,' and he doesn't go. And that Christian stands up in prayer meeting and says he wants the man's soul, but he doesn't get it because he doesn't go after it. Is it any wonder that the world is not brought to Jesus with the amazing indifference of Christians to this, their chief task?

"Winning souls to Christ is the biggest job of the Christian because it is a task that all can work at. Personal evangelism is within reach of all; it is a work for all.

"Three key words call for emphasis—it can be done Anywhere. The personal effort is not limited to the temple service. The seaside, the counting room, the parlor, the railway car, may be turned into a sanctuary where souls may be brought to Jesus. It can be done Any Time. It is not limited to special seasons—a revival may be started in a lost soul any time by a Christian whose heart is on fire. It may be done by Anybody. It is not limited to special classes, such as pastors and evangelists, but by the plain laity—men, women and children can and ought to be used in bringing the lost to Jesus. This is a work for all, since the personal word is open to all; and the personal word will win if spoken by consecrated lips. The personal prayer is open to all, and the prayer wins when prayed from an earnest heart. Tennyson says: 'More things are wrought by prayer than the world dreams of.' Often the shortest cut to an unbelieving heart is by the throne of prayer. The personal touch is open to all, and often just a touch will win, if it be the touch of love. I well remember the hour when I sat at the altar of the old country church, a penitent boy, with a heart as heavy as lead. Many were they who, after the fashion of good country folk, passed by and told me how to be saved, but, the load of sin was not lifted. At last, my father came and simply laid his hand on my head, he did not speak, he could not speak, it was his boy that was lost; but the touch of that hand of love brought me to Jesus.

Some Essentials.

"Mark eagerly now, some essentials in effectual personal effort in soul-winning:

"(a) Passion for souls—Love is the motive power for action. Men strive for that which they love. The love of souls is the passion that burns and moves the Christian to action in winning the lost. Let the child of your love be in physical danger, and no odds will deter you from attempting to rescue it.

"O for a passion for souls,
O for a pity that yearns,
O for a love stronger than death,
O for a fire that burns,
O for a prayer that prevails,
Prayer for the millions lost,
Prayer in the Conqueror's name,
O for a Pentecost.'

"(b) Tact—This word 'tact' means touch. Truly the soul-winner, like the surgeon, must have 'the heart of a lion and the hand of a woman.' You are chosen to handle souls—to fish for men—the skill must be fine; you are commanded to win, not drive, and the task must be delicate. Many souls are driven away instead of being won because of blunders in the manner of approach on the part of the winner. Dr. Henry Alfred Porter says that is a fine illustration when Moses was told to pick out the serpent. The advice was, 'Take it by the tail.' He didn't catch it by the throat, nor go for its head. He made no violent attack. He might have met fangs had he done so. He took it by the least offensive part—the tail. Our Lord constantly used tact in approaching a soul. Mark his dealing with the woman at the well in Samaria. He used water as His subject. The woman was thinking of 'water'; she was there with her water pot for water. Paul was a past master in the use of tact—note how he dealt with the Atheneans at Mars Hill, with King Aggrippa and others.

"(c) The Power of the Holy Spirit—The Master said: 'Follow Me and I will make you fishers of men.' Soul winners are born of God, not made by men. We need to find God's plan to be won through prayer. God has a plan for everything. If we seek to work in harmony with His plan, we will find that He works at both ends of the line—preparing the way for us to work, and preparing the one with whom we are to work. Dr. Chapman tells of a business man who determined to speak to another business man, a friend, the next visit he made to his office. On the next visit, he carried out his purpose, and finding the other man so ready, he said: 'Knowing that I was a Christian, had you ever expected me to speak to you on this subject?' The unsaved friend's face grew pale as he answered: 'I have thought it strange, and I have come again and again into your place of business and waited after I had finished my errand, hoping that you would speak to me.' If after we have found God's man through prayer, use tact in approach, depend upon the power of the Holy Spirit for help, use the Bible, the Sword of the Spirit, that cuts to the heart of the unbeliever, and tenders them ready for winning, success will crown our efforts in this, the Christian's chief task—soul winning.

The Supreme Task.

The soul-winner's task is not irksome. It is difficult, but not vexatious.

"Dr. Trumbull, I think, has said: 'It is easier to preach to a multitude than to attempt to win an individual to Christ.' It takes courage, but it is such a glorious task: It is so productive of results and rewards. It means so much to the individual won, to the Kingdom of God, and to the soul winner.

"None can compute the blessings brought to the soul won to Jesus through some personal effort; none can estimate the worth to the world and the Kingdom of one Moody, one Spurgeon, brought to Jesus by some nameless personal worker. Only eternity can reveal the full joy of the Christian, faithful to his chief task in winning the lost. Solomon says: 'The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth souls is wise'. (Prov. 11:30). James says: 'Let him know that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.' 'James 5:20).

"What task is comparable to this? Dr. Goodell has said: 'There is but one business which is worth while. To undertake it the throne of heaven was emptied that the mansions of heaven might be filled—No rewards are so great as that which it offers—' 'Surely the soul-winner's crown shall be the brightest in glory.' 'And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars forever and ever.' (Daniel 12:15).

"'Glorious crowns the Saviour's hands will hold,
Priceless crowns of everlasting gold;
Heavenly crowns that never will grow old,
Thine shall be a victor's crown'."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Ladies! Try This! Darkens Beautifully and Nobody Can Tell — Brings Back Its Gloss and Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning, all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
